Nation-wide Readership...

"The Times of India" has a readership so vast that the coverage extends over the whole sub-continent. Its independent non-partisan policy, its unbiassed presentation of news, its News Services and other unique features make it India's leading daily. "The Illustrated Weekly of India," with its interesting articles, its illustrations — in full colour and monochrome — and its other attractive features, is the foremost pictorial weekly in the East. The Hindi sister publications, "The Navbharat Times," a Hindi daily with a phenomenal circulation and "Dharmayug" a Hindi weekly patterned on the lines of its English counterpart, are, together, the most widely read Hindi papers in the Union. For Advertisers these four great publications offer an unlimited scope for expansion of business.

AHMEDABAD DISTRICT

Headquarters : Ahmedabad.

Talukas or Mahals : Daskroi, Dhandhuka-Ranpur, Dholka, Dehgam, Virangam, City Taluka, Sanand.

A District in Gujarat belonging to the Gujarat Division of Bombay State it lies between North Latitude 28° 23' and 23° 37' and East Longitude 71° 21' and 70° 28'. It is bounded on the north by Mehsana and Sabarkantha Districts, on the west by Saurashtra and the Rann of Kutch, on the south by Saurashtra and Kaira Districts, and on the east by Kaira. The total area of the District is 3,529 sq. miles. The population is 1,685,630. The language spoken is mainly Gujarati.

In the extreme south of the District and also just beyond the northern boundary are a few rocky hills. But between these two points the whole District forms a level plain, gradually rising towards the north and east. The chief physical feature is the river Sabarmati which rises in the north-east, near the extremity of the Aravalli Range and flows towards the south-west falling finally into the Gulf of Cambay.

The District as a whole is open and poorly wooded. The chief trees are mango, rayan, mahua and nim. Many of the trees and shrubs supply food, medicines and material for dyeing and tanning.

The rainfall varies but slightly between the central portions of the District and the outlying tracts. The annual rainfall averages about 30 inches.

The principal towns in the District are besides Ahmedabad, Virangam, Dholka, Daskroi, Dhandhuka, Dholera, Dehgam and Sanand. Dehgam Taluka has been selected for development under the village extension services scheme, recently.

The chief food crops are wheat, jowar and bajra and the chief money crop, cotton. The best rice is grown in Daskroi and the next best in Sanand and Dholka. The cotton which has a good staple is mainly grown in the Dhandhuka and Dholka Talukas. In Daskroi and Dholka many garden crops are also grown.

Ahmedabad city which is the second biggest textile centre in India is the only large industrial area in the District. The number of textile mills and factories is about 150 including 61 textile mills. Ahmedabad is also a centre of railway communications. One line from Ahmedabad goes south-east to Baroda and Bombay; another goes south to Dholka, a third goes west to Virangam where it joins the Saurashtra railway system; a fourth goes north-east through Parantij; and a fifth north through Palanpur and Ajmer.

With the establishment of the Gujarat University, Ahmedabad has become an important educational centre. It has over 16,000 alumni in Gujarat, Saurashtra and Kutch. The Ahmedabad Textile Industry's Research Association is the first institute of its kind in the whole of India. Ahmedabad is linked by air with Bombay, Jaipur, Delhi and Karachi.

The population of Ahmedabad City according to the 1951 census is 788,333.

The Arts college was started in 1937 by the Ahmedabad Education Society with the help of a donation of Rs. 2 lakhs offered by Sheth Chimanbhai Lalbhai, Sheth Kasturbhai Lalbhai and Sheth Narottambhai Lalbhai.

The college is permanently affiliated to the University of Gujarat and offers courses leading up to the B.A. Degree (General and Honours) in English, Sanskrit, History, Economics, Mathematics, Gujarati, Ardhamagadhi, Philosophy, Geography and Hindi.

Students are admitted to the college also for M.A. in English, Economics, Mathematics, Sanskrit, Ardhamagadhi and Philosophy and for Ph.D. in Ardhamagadhi.

The Sheth Mafafal Gagalbhai Science Institute was also started by the Ahmedabad Education Society in June 1946 with the help of a donation of Rs. 7,00,000 received from Sheth Navinchandra Mafafal, and is named after his late father. This institution is permanently affiliated to the University of Gujarat and offers courses leading up to the B.Sc. degree in Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics and Geology as principal subjects and Botany, Zoology and Geography as subsidiary subjects.

AHMEDNAGAR DISTRICT

Headquarters : Ahmednagar.

Talukas : Nagar, Rahuri, Newasa, Shrirampur, Sangamner, Akola, Kopergaon, Sheogaon, Pathardi, Jamkhed, Shrigonda, Farnar, Karjat.

Ahmednagar, a border District in the Marathi speaking area of the Deccan, lies between North Lat. 18°20' and 20° and East Long. 73°43' and 75°41'. It is bounded on the north and north-west by Nasik District, on the north-east by the river Godavari, on the south-east and south-west by Hyderabad State and Sholapur and Poona Districts. The principal geographical feature is the chain of Sahyadri Hills and the river Godavari. Despite the fertility of its soil the District is liable to famine owing to uncertain and scanty rainfall. A large part of the District is irrigated by the confluence of the rivers Godavari and Pravara which has encouraged sugar-cane plantation on a wide scale. The total area irrigated is 92,559 acres, yielding a revenue of Rs. 31,80,081.

The area of the District is 6,602 sq miles and the population according to the 1951 census is 1,110,873 registering a rise of 23.5 per cent over the 1941 census figure. The language spoken is Marathi.

Industrially, the northern part of the District is fairly well developed. There are seven large-scale sugar factories and two first class and up-to-date tanneries. Leather from these tanneries is exported mainly to Pakistan. The hand-power woollen carpet factory at Kendal in Rahuri Taluka exports carpets to foreign countries. Ahmednagar, Bhingar, Pathardi and Sangamner are the four main centres of handloom weaving industry, the total number of handlooms being 1,500. There are three power-loom factories at Ahmednagar.

Ahmednagar city, the headquarters, has a population of 80,873, and the population of the cantonment including the suburb of Bhingar is 24,424. A full army brigade is permanently stationed in Ahmednagar. The Armoured Corps Centre and School formerly known as the All-India Armoured Corps Training Centre and Fighting Vehicle School, is also located here. Ahmednagar is a big military training centre for young officers passing out of the Academy for Armoured Corps. The town is on the Dhond-Manmad railway line. The other towns having Municipalities are Kopergaon, Sangamner and Shrirampur.

The staple food grains are jawar and bajra. Wheat and gram are grown in the vicinity of the rivers. Vari and ragi are cultivated in soils which are suited to coarser grain. The pulses are tur, mug, math and kulthi. Among the cash crops may be mentioned cotton, hemp, safflower, sesamum, linseed, sugarcane, tobacco, kardi, pan, groundnut and potatoes. Sweet lime orchards are also grown.

There are 739 Co-operative Societies engaged in credit, trade, farming, irrigation, housing and industrial activities.

Part of the forests possesses teak of excellent quality. The characteristic trees of the Western forests are however, anjan, jambul, behala, ain and karvand.

The Dhond-Manmad railway line runs through the length of the District from north to south and is the chief means of communication. The District is well supplied with roads, the chief ones leading from Ahmednagar to Poona, Dhond, Malegaon, Pathan and Nasik while good roads also run to Akola, Jamkhed and Sheogaon.

The chief historical places of interest to visitors are the Ahmednagar Fort and the residential palaces of the Shindhas and the Peshwas at Jamgaon and Kopergaon respectively.

A dam is situated at Bhandardara across the Pravara river the maximum height of the dam being 270 feet from the river bed and width at the base is 300 feet. There is also a waterfall on the Pravara river at Randha village, the height of the fall being 200 feet.

INDUSTRIES

The imports consist chiefly of piecegoods, tin-sheets, metals, groceries, salt, yarn and silk.

The exports consist chiefly of sugar, gur, cotton, leather, pulses, oilseeds and fruits.

Limestone is fairly abundant in the District and also trap suitable for building purposes. Other minerals are basalt, quartz, chalcedony, agate, crystals.

Among industries sugar is now one of the most important. There are 7 factories in the District. Gur making, hand-loom weaving and bidi making are the other important industries.

TANKS AND IRRIGATION

There are four irrigation tanks in the District namely Bhandardara (irrigating 69,834 acres), Visapur (irrigating 6,129 acres), Mandavgan (irrigating 534 acres), Bhatodi (irrigating 701 acres). The Gunewadi Tank is under construction and would irrigate 7,000 acres. The Pimpalgaon and Kapurwadi tanks supply water to Ahmednagar City and Cantonment respectively. One percolation tank and five minor irrigation tanks constructed for famine relief works will together irrigate about 6,000 acres.

There are 51,720 wells in the District irrigating 105,108 acres.

HILL STATIONS

Kalsubai, the highest peak of the Sahyadri hills is situated in this District, the height of the peak being 5,430 feet above sea level. Bhandardara dam is situated at the base of the Kalsubai hills.

Haribhandragad and Patta Killa are the two hill stations situated at a height of 4,691 and 4,587 feet respectively.

AMRELI DISTRICT

Headquarters Amreli

Talukas or Mahals: Amreli, Kodinar, Dhari, Okhamandal, Damnagar, Khambha, Ghogho.

Amreli, formerly part of Baroda State, now part of Bombay State, lies inside the geographical limits of the Union of Saurashtra. It is not one block of territory but is composed of a number of separate parts intersected by territory belonging to the Saurashtra Union.

The area of Amreli District is 1,634 square miles, population 317,203 and the total yearly revenue about Rs 10,65,000.

The District is level country broken only by Gir Hills in the Dhari Taluka. The average yearly rainfall is between 23 to 25 inches. About 90 per cent of the land is dependent wholly on rain water while only 10 per cent is irrigated by water from wells and streams.

The principal crops are bajri, jawar, groundnuts, cotton, wheat, gram, sugarcane, rice, sesamum, maize, mung, udad and khatli. About 25 per cent of the land is under bajri cultivation and about 60 per cent under groundnut cultivation. As groundnut fetches a high price and the soil is suitable, it is extensively cultivated. Production of oil from groundnut and sesamum is one of the chief industries of the place, which has as many as 25 oil mills. Other industries include cotton ginning and the production of khadi.

The principal means of communication are the railways which run through almost all the chief places in the District. To supplement the railways there are bus services from Taluka headquarters to outlying areas.

There are four High Schools, eight Middle Schools, and 217 Primary Schools, in the District, besides twelve Boarding Houses for students of different communities, and one technical institute (formerly orphanage).

The District has eight well equipped libraries for men, one for women and one for children, 132 village libraries and a number of reading rooms for the public.

For purposes of medical relief, there are three civil hospitals, three maternity homes and 21 dispensaries scattered all over the District, besides many private dispensaries free and otherwise and five well equipped veterinary dispensaries.

The Okha Port in Amreli District, which was greatly developed during the time of the two last Gaekwars of Baroda, is one of the best deep sea ports in India. In Okhamandal Taluka, Port Okha, Mithapur and Dwarka have become industrial centres. There are three big industries at these places namely Dwarka Cement Works, the Tata Chemicals Ltd and the Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distribution Co. Dwarka is famous for Ranchhodrai temples. In Kodinar Taluka, there are a number of ports, which are chiefly used by the fishing industry and country craft.

The "Sarvodaya Centre" of this District is situated in Babapur Village, ten miles off Amreli. The centre conducts a residential village school and also a boarding house. The village of Chalala, 16 miles away from Amreli is one of the best spinning and weaving centres in Saurashtra.

BARODA DISTRICT

Headquarters : Baroda.

Talukas or Mahals :—Baroda, Savli, Vaghodia, Padra, Karjan, Sinor, Dabhol, Sankheda, Naswadi, Chhota-Udepur, Jabugam, Baroda City.

Following the integration of the State of Baroda with Bombay, the State as such ceased to exist with effect from May 1949. Baroda was one of the biggest States in India, comprising five separate territorial blocks in the northern part of Bombay State and Saurashtra having an area of 8,236 sq. miles. The State has now been reconstituted into three distinct Districts, Baroda, Mehsana and Amreli with the necessary territorial readjustments with the neighbouring Districts of Bombay in Gujarat and the merged areas. For instance, the entire District of Navsari in the south has been merged with Surat District. Population is 1,194,746.

The process of reconstitution is now complete and the city of Baroda, the erstwhile capital of the State, has regained some of its old importance as a centre of administration, higher education and culture, by the establishment of the new University and by the location of several Regional offices both of the Central and State Governments in the city. The District is placed in the Gujarat Division.

As far as the Central Administration is concerned, the Regional Office of the Income-Tax Department established under the Commissioner of Income-Tax exercises all the administrative, supervisory assessing and appellate jurisdiction over the entire area north of Bombay as provided under the Indian Income-Tax Act. Similarly Baroda has been selected as the regional headquarters for Central Excise, Tobacco and Customs administration for the Gujarat Range.

The Baroda Railway was taken over by the Centre on integration. The system which consisted of 795 miles and included 21 miles of broad-gauge, 308 miles of metre-gauge and 428 miles of narrow-gauge now forms a part of the Western Railway which formed the link between the State's three Districts of Navsari, Baroda and Mehsana.

For the purpose of administrative convenience, the Bombay Government decided to maintain the State territories as a unit of administration in respect of several departments till the beginning of 1950. Now the process of integration has been completed. The picture is as follows : the Departments of Revenue, Judicial, Civil Supplies, Industries, Commerce, Agriculture, Medical, Backward Classes, Labour, besides several minor Departments are administered centrally. With regard to others such as Co-operation, Public Works, Irrigation, Education, etc., Gujarat has been divided into two divisions, (1) the North consisting of the Districts of Ahmedabad, Sabarkantha, Mehsana, Banaskantha and Amreli and (2) the South comprising the Districts of Surat (including Navsari), Broach, Baroda, Kaira and Panch Mahals; and regional offices of these departments have been established with their headquarters at Ahmedabad for the North and Baroda for the South. In regard to sales tax the two Khandesh Districts come under the Baroda jurisdiction.

In the regrouping that followed the integration of the Baroda State with Bombay the smaller States including Chhota-Udepur and Bhadarwa, and others lying in the tracts known as the Pandu Mewas and Sankheda Mewas were included in the newly formed Baroda District. Also the two talukas Bhadrar and Petlad which formed part of the former Baroda State were taken away and included in the Kaira District.

Geographically, Baroda District (which is one of the five blocks into which the Baroda State was divided) forms a central compact block in the heart of Gujarat. It lies between North Latitude 21° 41' and 22° 32' and East Longitude 73° and 74° 10'. It is bounded on the north by the Kaira District beyond the river Mahi, and Panch Mahals on the north-east. It stretches roughly from south to north from the banks of the river Narmada to the river Mahi except for a small tract on the west and south-west boundary constituting the talukas of Amod, Vagra and Jambusar. The District is about 40 miles long and 35 miles broad. In the east it now stretches right upto the eastern boundaries of Gujarat. The eastern portion of the District is of a variegated nature, entirely undeveloped, largely because till the date of integration it was governed by petty Thakors and Taluqdars.

The most important portions of the District are Kanum which produces some of the finest cotton in India and Chorasi and Vakal in Sankheda and Vaghodia Talukas. The picturesque bank of the river Narmada stretching over 100 miles in length abound in archaeological remains, temples, shrines. Besides Narmada and Mahi other rivers flowing through the District are Jambua, Surya, Vishwamitri and Dhadhar draining into the Gulf of Cambay while the rivers Or, Heran, Uthoha are tributaries of the larger rivers.

Villages in Baroda provide amenities which do not generally exist elsewhere. Most villages have well conducted panchayats and possess institutions like schools, libraries, co-operative societies conducted on sound lines. The District as a whole has over 700 primary schools, 500 libraries, 300 gymnasiums and welfare associations.

The District is poorly wooded except in the east. The annual rainfall averages about 30 inches and varies only slightly from one place to another. The chief food crops are wheat, jowar, bajra, pulses, kodra, kodri, bawta, maize. Rice is now grown extensively interspaced with cotton. This latter together with tobacco, castor, and other oilseeds form the principal money crop. Baroda is a deficit District for food. In Padra, Karjan and Baroda Talukas many garden crops including vegetables and fruit are grown. Baroda does not possess adequate irrigation facilities like large reservoirs or hydro-electric works except wells. Considerable attention was given to the construction of wells in recent years. There are in all about 7,500 wells used for irrigation purposes, of which some 700 are worked by power-pumps. An ambitious programme of tapping the resources of the rivers Mahi and Narmada for canal irrigation is being undertaken by the Bombay Government.

The District is served by the Grand Trunk Road connecting Bombay, Ahmedabad, Baroda, Godhra, Indore and Delhi. There are extensive Pucca district roads connecting Baroda city with outlying talukas while village roads are all fair weather roads covered with Kanker, gravel or sand wherever available and serve as feeder roads linking villages with the nearest main road or railway station. There are about 250 miles of narrow gauge railway.

Baroda, the headquarters of the District is a historic and ancient city, and was the capital of the State till the State ceased to exist. It is fully modernised and is famous for its beautiful buildings, palaces, parks, avenues, recreation grounds, schools, colleges, hospitals, public libraries and broad, well laid out roads, and can stand comparison with any of the cities of the same size in India. The State is also well advanced in industry. In recent years a number of factories, big and small have sprung up. The more important lines of development are textiles, chemicals, oil and soaps, engineering, metal works and foundries, rolling mills, and manufacture of glassware, etc., providing employment to about 30,000 workmen. Side by side with the development of major industries, considerable progress has also been made in the revival and extension of small cottage industries. Among the latter are spinning and weaving, calico printing, lacquer work, textile auxiliaries, etc.

MEDICAL RELIEF

Medical relief is so well organised that it is worth a special note. Among the larger medical institutions the most important is the Shri Sayajirao State General Hospital in Baroda city, which contains all special departments like pathology, surgery, radiology, dentistry, ophthalmology, midwifery, gynaecology and children's diseases. There is one more hospital in Baroda city run by the Government, viz. Shri Jambhal Hospital. In addition there are district hospitals and taluka dispensaries.

Separate institutions also exist for medical relief to women and children. Besides the maternity wards attached to the Baroda city hospitals, there are 12 small maternity homes in the District. Maternity and child welfare work is also done by Shri Maharaul Chimanabai Maternity and Child Welfare League in Baroda city and by a number of trained midwives and dais attached to the various maternity homes. Other important institutions in the city are the Mental Home, the Leper Asylum and a branch of the Indian Red Cross Society. Anti-Rabic treatment is also provided free of cost.

The Shri Padmavati Tuberculosis Hospital and Sanatorium located some 8 miles from Baroda city is well-equipped with scientific appliances and a clinic provides treatment for people suffering from tuberculosis.

There are Public Health Laboratories in the city for the administration of Food and Drugs Act.

MAHARAJA SAYAJIRAO UNIVERSITY OF BARODA

The Maharaja Sayajirao University is a teaching and residential University established in 1949 under an Act of the State and incorporated in the Statute by the Bombay Government following the merger of the State with Bombay. All the colleges and recognised institutions situated within the University area specified in the Act, became the constituent parts of the University and were with the exception of the Medical College, Technological Institute, Museum and Baroda Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, conducted by the University. These constituents include:—The Faculties of Arts, Science, Education and Psychology, Commerce, Medicine, Technology (including Engineering), Fine Arts, Home Science and Social Work. There is also an Oriental Institute and Kalabhavan for Diploma and Certificate courses in Technology.

The University started functioning from the academic year 1950-51 by adopting its first Statutes and Ordinances and constituting nine Faculties, viz., Arts, Science, Education and Psychology, Commerce, Medicine, Technology (including Engineering), Fine Arts, Home Science and Social Work. The first examination in the first six Faculties was held in March-April 1951.

Under the Faculty of fine arts, a separate institution called the College of Indian Music, Dance and Dramatics is run for teaching courses in music, dance and dramatics leading to a diploma and a degree in the subjects of study.

In June 1951, the University took over the management of the Baroda Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, an institution of Oriental learning from the Government of Bombay.

The University conducts an experimental high school as an integral part of the Faculty of education and psychology and also the Chetan Balwadi, a nursery school for children which is attached to the Faculty of home science and is an important adjunct to the Faculty for purposes of observation and experiment.

The Faculty of home science which started working from June 1950 imparts training, among other subjects in child development, foods and nutrition, home management and home science education.

The University has instituted a post-graduate ayurvedic research section in the medical college, Baroda, called Sheth Ujasmal Pitambaras Ayurvedic Research Unit named after the donor who had created a trust and started an ayurvedic college at Patan. The balance of the trust and the library of the institution has been handed over to the University. The Government of Bombay gives an annual recurring grant of Rs. 36,000 for the maintenance of the Unit.

The University instituted in 1952, a post-graduate diploma in Museology too, and the department is located in the museum and picture gallery. Museology is also included as one of the compulsory subjects for students of the Faculty of fine arts offering applied arts.

The scheme regarding the establishment of a banking department in the Faculty of commerce is under consideration of the University authorities.

From June 1953, the Faculty of technology (including engineering) has introduced the courses in textile engineering, the first of its kind in India.

The Ramayana Department, started in Oriental Institute, to publish an illustrated critical edition of Valmiki Ramayan, is progressing well.

BELGAUM DISTRICT

Headquarters : Belgaum.

Talukas and Mahals : Belgaum, Khanapur, Gokak, Athal, Parnagad, Sampgaon, Chikodi, Hukkeri, Chandgad and Ramdurg talukas and Rabag Mahal.

Belgaum District with Belgaum as its capital, is bounded on the north by Kolhapur and Satara South Districts; on the east by Bijapur; on the south by the Districts of Dharwar and North Kanara, on the west by the territory of Goa and Kolhapur District.

The area of the District is 5,524 square miles and the population according to 1951 census is 17,26,908. The languages spoken are Kannada and Marathi.

The country is a large plain studded with solitary peaks and broken here and there by low ranges of hills. In the north and east the land is level and well-cultivated, but in the west it is intersected by spurs of the Sahyadri Range thickly covered in some places with forest. The District contains both black and red soils and produces mostly grains, pulses, oil-seeds, fibres and cotton. The average rainfall in Belgaum is 41.5 inches.

Belgaum, the District headquarters, has a very pleasant climate especially in the hot season and it is described as the 'Mahabaleshwar of the poor.' It has retained its historic importance in the form of an imposing fortress built in the Mogul period. It is a cantonment and a station on the Southern Railway. It is a busy centre throwing on all its sides well-maintained roads connecting all the districts in Karnatak, southern Maharashtra and the Goa territory. It is an important centre of the State Transport Bus Service.

There are a big travellers' bungalow, and a well-furnished private hotel, Hotel Green. There are also a Civil Hospital, a Military Hospital, two well-equipped private hospitals and half a dozen maternity hospitals in the city. For the training of military cadets there is a residential institution called King George Public School in the Camp and the well-known Mahratta Light Infantry Regimental Centre. In the city and the Camp area there are four Colleges, two Arts Colleges, one Law College, one College for the training of Secondary School Teachers, all affiliated to the Karnatak University. There are 15 High Schools of which five are exclusive for girls, which send up students for the S.S.C. Examination. There are also three Primary Teachers' Training Colleges, one Marathi and the other two Kannada. Other institutions worth mentioning are the Remand Home, the Rotary Club, a Masonic Lodge and a number of recreation clubs like Belgaum Club, Union Gynkhana, Social Club, Kreedha Bhuvan and the Ladies' Club.

It has Literary Associations managed by the lovers of Marathi and Kannada literature, and can be proud of a Free General Library of a hundred years standing with an imposing building of its own having a clock tower.

With more than a dozen banks it is growing in importance as a business and commercial centre.

BIJAPUR DISTRICT

Headquarters: Bijapur.

Talukas: Indi, Sindgi, Bijapur, Bagewadi, Muddebihal, Hungund, Badami, Mudhol, Jamkhadi.

Pethas: Bilgi.

Bijapur District lies roughly between 15°49' and 17°29' North Latitude and 75°19' and 76°32' East Longitude. On the north it is separated by the river Bhima from Sholapur Dist. Including the Akalkot Taluka, formerly a State; on the east and south-east it is bounded by Hyderabad; on the south by the Districts of Dharwar and Belgaum, and on the west by the Districts of Satara South (also called Sangli) and Belgaum.

In the final adjustment of the areas of the merged Deccan States in August 1950, Ramdurg Taluka was detached from Bijapur, while the State areas of Mudhol and Jamkhadi, the Gunadal Taluka of Aundh State, the Tikota Taluka of Kurundwad Senior and a few villages of Ramdurg State were kept. Since the allotment of a Community Project Block to Bijapur district under the 'Five-Year Plan', Bijapur has been divided into four sub-divisions instead of three with their headquarters at Bijapur, Indi, Bagalkot and Jamkhadi.

The area of the District since the exclusion of Ramdurg Taluka is reduced to about 6,601 sq. miles and the population according to 1951 census is 1,396,185. The majority of the people are Lingayats. Both Kannada and Marathi are spoken. The court language is Kannada.

The District has a rich soil but rains are uncertain, the average rainfall varying between 18 and 22 inches. It is one of the famine districts of the State. The staple crops are jowar and wheat but cotton, groundnut, bajri, pulses, linseed, sesamum and safflower are also largely grown. Bijapur and Bagalkot are the two important market centres, the former exporting cotton, jowar, wheat, groundnut, linseed, sesamum and bajri on an extensive scale. Ilkal in Hungund Taluka and Guledgad in Badami are two other commercial centres. Ilkal is known for 'Ilkal saris' the export of which exceeded 3 lakhs of rupees a year at one time. Rabkavi, Mahalingpur and Terdal in Jamkhadi Taluka are three power-loom centres, exporting fashionable saris and petals on a large scale. Handloom industry is the main industry of the District with about 30,000 handlooms, employing nearly 150,000 weavers. The work of the proposed cement factory at Bagalkot called the Bagalkot Cement Co. Ltd. with its managing agents Tendulkar Industries Ltd. has now begun in right earnest and it is hoped that the factory will commence cement production within a period of two years from now. The chief exports of Guledgad are Cholkhans.

Bijapur is an ancient and historical town containing many monuments and relics of the past. Badami is another historical place with tanks and temples coming down from ancient times.

Important Hindu pilgrimage centres are "Rukmini Pandhi Samadhi" about three miles to the west of Bijapur town and the "Inchgeri Swami Math" at Inchgeri in Indi Taluka.

Towns with electric fittings are Bijapur, Bagalkot and Jamkhadi.

The District is well supplied with rivers and water-courses, like the Bhima, Dhoni, Krishna, Ghatprabha and Malprabha. There are also many small streams.

AGRICULTURE

Bijapur is mainly an agricultural district growing as stated above jowar, bajri, wheat, cotton, groundnut, pulses, linseed, sesamum, and safflower. There are two Agricultural Produce Market Committees one at Bijapur and the other at Bagalkot for the regulation of trade. Jowar, bajri and wheat are exported on a large scale to deficit areas, while the money crops of cotton and groundnut are exported to Sholapur and Gokak Mills, and to Bombay and Marmugao respectively. Linseed goes to Bombay and sesamum to Madras State while safflower is consumed by local Ghanis. Grape is now widely cultivated by Bijapur gardeners, Babanagar on Bijapur-Jath road about 12 miles from Bijapur being the chief grape producing centre. Pomegranates are largely grown in Kolhar in Bagewadi Taluka and Kalatgi in Bagalkot Taluka.

During the last ten years Bijapur has made remarkable progress in the cultivation of vegetables which are now abundantly grown: spinach, cabbage, knolkohl, cauliflower, tomatoes and beet-root. Onions and betel-leaves are also abundantly grown in Bagewadi Taluka and are exported on a large scale each worth about Rs. 1,00,000 annually.

The importance of minor irrigation schemes was felt very acutely in Bijapur after the famine of 1946. Since then, seven lift irrigation schemes have been operating, irrigating about 15,000 acres of land in the Talukas of Bagewadi and Bagalkot on the river Krishna and Malprabha. Makanapur tank and Nandargi Talav in Bijapur Taluka were recently thrown open to agriculturists to irrigate about 2,000 acres. During 1952-53 famine year five new Bandharas at Kudgi and Kalai in Indi Taluka; at Gaddalmeri and Muntoji in Muddebihal and at Hiresingutti in Hungund were built as a scarcity relief measure which can irrigate about fifteen hundred acres of land. During the same period 665 new irrigation wells—75 in Bijapur; 54 in Sindgi; 102 in Indi; 20 in Bagewadi; 183 in Mudhol and 231 in Jamkhadi at a cost of Rs. 10,00,000 were sunk under the Planning Commission scheme. Besides 1,576 new irrigation wells were sunk and 2,123 old wells repaired under the "Subsidy-Scheme from 1945 to 1951".

COMMUNICATIONS

The Southern Railway runs right through the District from north to south connecting the District with Bombay in the north via Hotel and Poona and in the south with Belgaum, Goa and Guntakal via Gadag and Hubli. Bijapur District has nine Railway Stations, namely Jumal, Mulwad, Telgi, Almatti, Sittmani, Karlimatti, Bagalkot, Katgeri and Badami in the south and eight railway stations in the north including Bijapur, Minchnal and Indl.

The District's passenger bus services were nationalised with effect from March 25, 1949. The State buses are now operating throughout the District.

The Bijapur Division of the Bombay State Transport Corporation has its headquarters at Bijapur, offices being located in the old forest bungalow and the passenger stand and the traffic department office at the Tashavdi Arches. It has recently shifted its workshop from the Sister Ghumbaz compound to the newly built one just outside the town on Bijapur-Sheetal road. It has opened seven big depots as operating units at Bijapur, Bagalkot, Jamkhandi, and garages at Jath, Muddebihal, Athani and Gulegdudi.

A new high-level bridge across the river, Krishna near Jamkhandi to facilitate commercial and other traffic throughout the year is now being completed. Another bridge across a dangerous stream near Atharga on Bijapur-Indl road has been completed. Another big bridge on the river Bhima near Dhulkhed is under construction and will open the way for a through traffic from Bijapur to Sholapur, Poona and Bombay.

HOSPITALS

There is a Government Civil Hospital with a maternity ward and an eye-hospital with accommodation for indoor patients run partly by the Blind Relief Association and partly by Government at Bijapur, and two free dispensaries, one ayurvedic and the other allopathic conducted by the Bijapur Municipal Borough. There are also maternity and child welfare homes, a leper asylum, a remand home and an orphanage run on money from public charity.

Bijapur District has more than 16 Government subsidised Dispensaries both ayurvedic and allopathic in taluka towns and important village centres conducted by the District Local Board. The Board has also opened nine veterinary dispensaries at taluka towns. Sixteen vaccinators, thirteen anti-epidemic workers and a Touring Medical Officer are looking after the sanitation of the District under the District Health Officer, appointed by Government.

EDUCATION

There is a first grade Arts College at Bijapur with F. Y. and Inter-Science classes. Another Arts College is located at Bagalkot with F. Y., Inter Arts and Inter Science classes. There are six Boys' High Schools and one A. K. Girls' High School at Bijapur and two at Bagalkot. There is a Kindergarten School recently opened under the auspices of the "Tilak Kanya-Shala" and conducted exclusively by the Bijapur "Mahila Mandal".

There is a Government Industrial school in addition to a leather tanning factory and a leather work school (Government have opened an Agricultural School at Bagalkot

The Vijaya College was started in 1945 at Bijapur by the Bijapur Lingayat District Educational Association, Bijapur. The college is affiliated to the Karnatak University, Dharwar.

A new Wachanalaya called "Jay-Hind" for catering for the needs of Bijapur Marathi reading public was opened here recently.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

There is an oil mill at Bijapur providing labour to about 200 workers. Bijapur has also two biscuit factories and two soap factories, five handloom centres at Dargah (a suburb of Bijapur), Terdal, Habkavi and Bannatti (where several hundred handlooms, and about 60 power looms are operating to turn out a large variety of saris), 80 spinning factories working during cotton season only, slate and tile factories, glass bangles and copper and brass industries. Country carpets and blankets are made in several villages in Bagalkot, Hungund, and Badami Talukas and Bilgi Petha. There is a wool-weaving demonstration centre at Kundargi where weavers are trained in improved methods in wool-weaving. A Government sheep breeding farm is situated at Anagwadi where improved types of wool are produced. Fine white building stones are exported from Badami and grinding stones from Muddebihal. Shalabadi type slatestones of various dimensions are quarried and exported in abundant quantities from Talikot, Kaladgi and Minajgi. The Karnatak Glass and Mining Co., Ltd., has started a public company at Bagalkot for manufacturing glassware of all kinds. Oil crushing is done by country ghanis throughout the District and soon oil expellers will be set up at Bagalkot.

Since Dinajpur, the jute producing and exporting centre in Bengal, was included in East Bengal after partition, Bijapur's cotton business came practically to a standstill for want of jute bhata, a covering for packing cotton, etc., Bijapur being a big cotton producing centre.

In 1949 an experiment on Ghayapati a wild plant was successfully made to use it as a suitable substitute for jute. A special type of handloom to weave bhata was prepared and this experiment too produced satisfactory results. Since then, the industry made rapid progress at Bijapur where there are at present more than a hundred looms working day and night producing hundreds of bhata every day. The new industry has been giving employment to about two thousand workers. Bijapur has thus assumed the role of Dinajpur as a jute producing and exporting centre. The plant is grown in abundance.

Sarvodaya centre has been recently opened at Kaladgi in Bagalkot Taluka, Bijapur District, has been catering for the needs of cottage industries, weavers and others and besides helping the kisans for improving their agriculture with a view to implementing Government's "Grow More Food Drive". It is also extending its help to the poor in distress.

MUNICIPAL BOROUGH

Bijapur Municipal Borough has recently chalked out a Master plan which has been approved by Government and its sanction for implementation is now awaited. The town is being beautified by additions of new parks, one in each ward. Accordingly two new parks, one near the Anand-Mahal called Gaganmahal Park and the other in the new Bazar are now fully developed.

BROACH DISTRICT

Headquarters Broach
Sub-Division Rajpipla

Talukas or Mahals Broach, Vagra, Amod Jambusar, Ankleshwar, Hansot, Nandod, Jhaghadia, Valla, Dedlapada, Segbara.

Broach District is bounded on the north by the river Mahi, on the east and south east by Baroda District, on the south by the river Kim and on the west by the Gulf of Cambay.

The area of the District is 2911 sq miles and the population according to 1951 census 708 035. The language spoken is Gujarati.

The soil is of the black cotton variety and is highly fertile, producing the famous Broach cotton, one of the best in India. Other agricultural produce includes wheat and lang. Timber, charcoal and some kinds of forest produce are available owing to the merger of the State of Rajpipla with the District.

There are two textile mills in the District (both in Broach City) and 39 ginning and pressing factories out of which three are in Broach, one in Derol. Broach town and the rest in other towns like Palej, Jambusar, Rajpipla, Jhaghadia and Amod. The factory at Derol is run by the Broach District Ginning and Pressing Society formed by the agriculturists of the District.

The main line of communication is the Western Railway which runs through the District from south to north.

Broach, the headquarters which stands on the river Narbada and the Western Railway main line, was in former days the seat of a great and flourishing trade. With the growth of Bombay, however, it suffered eclipse and the weaving industry has also declined. Broach is one of the oldest seaports in Western India and is still a prominent port for country craft. The city has a fair, a dharvasala and a P W D inspection bungalow.

DANGS DISTRICT

Headquarters : Ahwa.

Taluka : Dangs.

Dangs District lies between north latitude 20°33' and 21°3', east longitude 73°28' and 73°57'. The area is about 658 sq. miles and the population 47,282. Waghal (Dangs), the terminus of the Billimora-Waghal line on the Western Railway, is 171 miles by rail from Bombay Central Station. There are regular State Transport Bus Services throughout the year from Waghal and during fair season from Billimora and Nawapur, to Ahwa, the headquarters of the District.

The languages spoken are Marathi and Gujarati. Marathi is the official language. The inhabitants are mostly Bhils, Kunds and Warlis.

There are rich teak forests which form the principal source of revenue, Dangs teak being considered as second only to Kanara teak in quality.

There is a P.W.D. rest house at Ahwa and there are 22 forest rest houses at various places in the District.

Pethas : Mundargi, Nargund, Byadgi, Kundgol.

Dharwar District is bounded on the north by the Districts of Belgaum and Bijapur; on the south by the State of Mysore; on the east by Hyderabad State and the Bellary District of Mysore State; and on the west by the District of North Kanara. The area of the District is 5,305 square miles and the population according to 1951 census 1,575,386. Dharwar District is roughly divided into two belts, characterised by differences of configuration, soil and products. To the north and north-east spread vast unbroken plains of black cotton soil which produce wheat and abundant cotton crops. Dharwar is the biggest cotton growing District in Bombay. The western belt of the District is traversed by low hills; this tract consists of a succession of low ranges covered with herbage and brushwood. The ranges are separated by flat valleys, and it is to these valleys and the lower slopes of the hills that cultivation is chiefly confined. Farther west the country is still more hilly, and the trees increase in size towards the frontier of North Kanara. In former times Dharwar is said to have yielded gold in abundance, and companies were formed thoroughly to develop the auriferous deposits but their operations have ceased. But the Geological Survey of the Government of India have ordered a fresh survey of areas in the Gadag Taluka with a view to discovering possible gold deposits. The survey work has been completed, but the results are not yet known. The Basel Mission carries on social and educational work. Dharwar, the headquarters town, is a station on the Southern Railway and is the cultural centre of the Kannada speaking regions of Bombay. It is also the seat of the newly established Karnatak University, and a broadcasting station of All-India Radio started functioning in January 1950. Dharwar has two Arts and Science colleges, a college of Agriculture, a college of Forestry and a Kannada Research Institute. The city of Hubli, 12 miles from Dharwar, is the biggest city in the District and is an important railway junction on the Southern Railway, with a railway workshop, an Arts College, a college of Engineering and a college of Commerce. Hubli is also known for its textile industry. The town of Gadag is another centre noted for its textile industry.

EAST KHANDESH DISTRICT

Headquarters: Jalgaon.

Talukas: Chalisgaon, Amalner, Parola, Chopda, Erandol, Pachora, Jamner, Jalgaon, Yaval, Raver, Bhusawal.

Mahals: Edlabad, Bhadgaon.

East Khandesh, with Jalgaon as capital, is the eastern-most District in Bombay State. It is bounded on the north by the Satpura Mountains and Madhya Bharat State, on the east by Nimar and Berar, on the south by Hyderabad State, and on the west by Nasik and West Khandesh Districts.

The area of the District is 4,535 sq. miles and the population according to 1951 census 1,471,351. The main population of the District is composed of Levas and Marathas, with a good percentage of Bhils, Vanjaris and other hill tribes. Levas, who are supposed to be the descendants of Lahu, the son of Itami, are said to have migrated to the District in the 11th century. Their language is a peculiar mixture of Gujarati, Marathi and Hindi and is called Ahirani. The District has very rich black soil, specially in the trans-Tapti Talukas, and is among the Districts which yield the highest revenue.

The most important crops are cotton, groundnuts, jawar, bajri, gram, millet, linseed and sesamum. The most important garden crops are chillis, coriander, melons, watermelons, betel leaf, bananas, mosambi and santra. North India is a lucrative export market for bananas for the sale of which co-operative limited companies have been established at Jalgaon and Jamner. The bananas are now marketed by the State Co-operative Marketing Board in Delhi.

Cotton and groundnut are even more important. 20 per cent of all the cotton produced in Bombay State comes from this District. The cotton is classed as Jarla which new variety wholly replaced the old variety called Oomra in 1944. Jarla cotton is finer than Broach and fetches a higher price. Government have a special agricultural farm at Jalgaon for improving Jarla still further specially in regard to ginning percentage. A new variety of Jarla known as 107-3, gives 4 per cent more ginning. This is now widely sown in East Khandesh, West Khandesh and Nasik districts. Bombay Government have this year introduced C.O. 4 (Cambodia), by importing seed from Madras. This is a long staple cotton and the yield per acre is much higher and can only be put under cultivation, if there are irrigation facilities. 3,000 acres of land are under cultivation of this variety during the current year. Bombay Government have, however, this year, relaxed restrictions on the compulsory cultivation of Jarla cotton, so as to increase cotton production in general. This has led to an increase in acreage under cotton, the current year's acreage being three lakhs.

About 25 per cent of the groundnut produced in this State comes from East Khandesh. There has been a sharp fall in acreage under groundnut owing to unfavourable weather conditions during successive years. There is a large export trade in groundnut oil and hydrogenated oil or vanaspathi.

COMMUNICATIONS

The Central Railway is the main line of communication and between its various lines traverse the whole length and most of the breadth of the District.

The Imperial Bank has a branch at Jalgaon and there are nine other banks in the town.

Jalgaon is the biggest town and District headquarters, a great trade centre, and also an educational centre. The M. I. Arts & Science College teaches upto B.A. and B.Sc. degrees. There is also a Government Agriculture School, besides a number of private high schools. There is a travellers' bungalow about two furlongs from the station. The town is an important junction on the Central Railway. The town is 37 miles from Ajanta Caves and a regular State Transport buses traffic exists from Jalgaon to Ajanta. Bhusawal is the biggest railway junction after Bombay on the Central Railway. Amalner is the biggest cotton centre in the District. Other towns in the District with a population of over 30,000 are Chopda and Chalisgaon.

The geography of the District is worth a note. The District of Khandesh is not part of the Deccan, but is the lower part of the basin of the Tapi, and the whole of the basins of the Girna and its affluents. East Khandesh comprises the eastern portion of these basins and is entirely watered by these two rivers and their affluents. There are a number of small irregular hill ranges in the District. In the valley between these, and more especially in the valley of the Tapi proper, the District presents an extraordinarily fertile appearance. In this respect it differs widely from the Deccan. The roads are bordered with fine trees and there are several mango groves around most villages.

The Satpura mountains in the north consist of difficult uninhabited country which, however, produces excellent bamboos and grass, and timber suitable to the needs of the local population.

The river Tapi in this District is used, neither for watering fields nor for boat traffic. The height of the banks has hitherto prevented successful irrigation. The rainfall (mean annual is 28.27 inches) is usually both general and regular, which fact in itself discourages irrigation. The trade follows the different railway lines serving the District. Khandesh rivers and streams abound in fish. There are no fishing rights nor any Government control. Good shikar is available in the forest area round Ghodasgaon and Pal in Edlabad Peta.

PRATAP COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND ARTS, Amalner

This College, now affiliated to the University of Poona, is conducted by the Khandesh Education Society, Amalner. Shrimant Pratap Shet, a leading industrialist of Khandesh has been the elected president of the society continuously for over 30 years.

The Pratap College started in June 1945, became a degree college in June 1946. Since 1948 M.A. Classes were allowed to be opened. Two spacious buildings of hostels have been erected on the premises of the college one of which is named as Shri Sou. Bhagirathibai Pratap Shet hostel. These two buildings provide accommodation for about 160 students. A separate arrangement for lady students is also made.

Khandesh being a comparatively backward area, students are given intense coaching and instruction. Best English pictures are shown to the students with the help of a 16 mm. projector machine. Debating unions, sports like foot-ball, hockey, volley-ball and hu-tu-tu are being played by a large number of students every day.

KHANDESH COLLEGE EDUCATION SOCIETY'S MOOLJEE JAITHA ARTS & SCIENCE COLLEGE, Jalgaon

The College was started in June 1945 by the Khandesh College Education Society, Jalgaon. It is serving the long-felt need of higher education of the District of East Khandesh wherein the number of high schools is fast increasing. The institution has been singularly lucky in securing the patronage of Shreeman Sheth Chhatrabhuj Govardhandas, the present heir of the family Mooljee Jaithas of Bombay. The college has a site of thirty acres situated outside the town in the vicinity of the revenue buildings. In June 1947 the college was raised to a full grade institution both on the Arts and Science sides.

VALLABHDAS VALJI GENERAL LIBRARY Jalgaon

The library was established in July 1877. Mr. Polon donated Rs. 500 and persuaded the firm of Moolji Jetha and Co., to donate a sum of Rs. 4,000, in memory of Vallabhdas Valji Shet, after whom the institution is named. It is the oldest library in the District and was registered in 1912. In 1947, the library was recognised as a District library under the new scheme of the Bombay Government, and admission is free to the public. It is managed by a committee of nine elected members and one nominated by the Government.

The library conducts an annual lecture series, a study circle, and a magazine section. It took the initiative in forming the East Khandesh Library Association, Jalgaon, E. Khandesh.

President.—Dr. D. L. Athawale, D.O.; Secretary.—D. V. Kulkarni, M.A., B.T.

INDUSTRIES

The main industry is based on agriculture. There are 37 oil mills in the District, besides several bullock driven presses. Two vegetable factories one at Pachora and another at Amalner employ 750 and 250 workers respectively. There is a silk mill at Pinprale, with 30 looms, employing 110 workers.

There are in the whole District five spinning and weaving factories, 97 cotton ginning and pressing mills, ten dyeing factories, three big railway workshops (at Bhusawal) all employing more than 28,000 people.

Important weaving centres in the District include Nasirabad, Erandol, Dharangaon and Parola. Paper is manufactured on a small scale by hand-made process at Erandol and Government are encouraging the industry.

KAIRA DISTRICT

Headquarters : Kaira (Revenue), Nadiad (Judicial).

Talukas and Mahals : Matar, Mahemdabad, Nadiad, Kapadvanj, Anand, Borsad, Thasra, Balasinor, Cambay, Petlad.

Kaira District lies between North Latitude 22°14' and 23°7' and East Longitude 72°30' and 73°23'. It is bounded on the north by the Ahmedabad and Sabarkantha Districts, on the south by the Baroda District, on the east by the Mahi River and Panch Mahals District, on the west by the Ahmedabad District and the Bay of Cambay. The former princely States of Cambay, Balasinor, Ghodasara and part of Baroda have merged in this District so that its limits now extend upto the Panch Mahals and the Bay of Cambay. The population of the District according to the 1951 census is 1,612,426; area, 2,542 square miles. The language spoken is Gujarati.

Nadiad is the largest town in the District and the seat of the District and Sessions Judges' Courts, the District Local Board, Sales Tax and Income-Tax Departments. The revenue headquarters, however, is Kaira, where also the head post office and the District and Civil hospital and police lines are located. Nadiad, Kapadvanj, Umreth, Dakor, Anand, Petlad and Cambay are the only towns which are supplied with electric power; and local telephone facilities are available only in Nadiad, Petlad, Anand and Kapadvanj. Trunk calls, however, can be made from Nadiad, Petlad, Anand, Kapadvanj and Cambay. Nadiad, Petlad and Anand are also railway junctions, the first for Kapadvanj, the second for Dakor-Godhra, Petlad, Cambay and the third for Bhadrachal, etc. The railway authorities have connected the Pij-Petlad Railway with Nadiad and hence there is direct Railway from Nadiad to Bhadrachal. There is a network of State bus services in the District.

Petlad is another industrial town. Cambay is the only port in the District.

Tobacco which is suitable for the manufacture of cigarettes is grown in Kaira District while at Sevalla in the Thasra Taluka the Associated Cement Co., Ltd. has started a cement factory where daily one hundred tons cement is manufactured.

The Government of India have opened a tobacco research institute at Anand. The Mahi, the Vatrak and the Meshwo irrigation schemes have been taken up by the Government. Waterworks schemes with drainage sponsored by the Nadiad Municipality has been completed and drainage has been undertaken. In addition, a scheme has been operating this year at Kaira and schemes of water works have been undertaken at Anand, Umreth and Ode.

Nadiad is also the Headquarters of the State Transport for Ahmedabad, Kaira and Panch Mahals.

Electricity is supplied in various places under the North Gujarat Electric Grid Scheme. Nadiad and Anand are the sub-stations.

KOLABA DISTRICT

Headquarters : Allbag.

Talukas and Mahals : Allbag, Pen, Panvel, Karjat, Roha, Mangaon, Mahad, Khalapur, Uran, Poladpur, Murud, Shrivardhan, Mhasla and Sudhagad.

Kolaba District in the Konkan area of Bombay State lies between North Latitude 17°52' and 19°3' and East Longitude 73°7' and 73°42'. On the north it is bounded by Thana District; on the east by the Sahyadri Hills and Poona and Satara North Districts; on the south by Ratnagiri; and on the west by the Arabian Sea.

The total area of the District is 2,715 sq. miles, the population (based on 1951 census) 909,083.

The Talukas which were incorporated into the Kolaba District after the merger were: Murud, Shrivardhan and Mhasala from Janjira, and Sudhagad from Bhior.

Kolaba is a rugged belt of country cut across by numerous creeks from 15 to 30 miles broad stretching from the south of Thana and Bombay Harbour to the foot of the Mahabaleshwar hills, 75 miles south-east.

Notable places in the District are Raigarh near Mahad, once the capital of the great Shivaji and Kanakeshwara near Allbag, which is fast growing into a holiday resort as it is a hill 1,100 feet above sea-level and gives a complete view of Bombay. Matheran is another well-known hill station. Elephanta near Bombay is also in this District. Allbag, the District headquarters is 24 miles south of Bombay, communication being by steam ferry service via Revus. Allbag has a magnetic observatory which is devoted to research in magnetic and electric currents which circulate in the interior of the earth.

The historical sea-fort Kolaba, at Allbag, which was the naval capital of Shivaji, has recently been taken over by the Archaeological Department of the Government of India. The Hingulja hill near Revedenda, about nine miles from Allbag, is growing into a holiday resort.

The Kolaba District has now its own District and Sessions Court.

There is a Training College for men at Panvel and another for women at Sasawane in Allbag Taluka. The Sarvodaya Centre is situated at Sudkoli in Allbag Taluka.

AGRICULTURE, POWER

On the flat lands of the District rice is grown, and the sea-front is fringed by a belt of coconut and arecanut palms. There is large-scale plantation of mango grafts and the produce is exported to Bombay. Lorry loads of melons from Panvel are also sent to Bombay. The teak forests are very valuable and there is a considerable fishing industry.

The District has three Power Houses: The Tata Power Co.'s Power House at Bhira (Patuna), the Tata Hydro-Electric Power Supply Co.'s at Khopoli and the Andhra Valley Power Supply Co.'s at Bhivpuri.

The District is served by the Central Railway which passes through the Karjat Taluka. In addition to steamer ferry there is direct steamer communication between Bombay and the coastal ports during the fair season. There are roads over the ghats which connect the District with the interior and are available for traffic all the year round.

TRADE, INDUSTRY

The chief articles of export are rice, salt, fire-wood, grass, timber, vegetables, fruit and dried fish. The imports consist of teak, grain, piecegoods, oil, potatoes and sugar. At Khopoli a fish centre has been instituted where various kinds of fish are grown. A card-board paper mill has started functioning.

The principal trade centres of the District are Pen, Panvel, Karjat, Nagothana, Revedanda, Roha, Goregaon and Mahad. Uran and Pen are big salt-producing centres. Panvel contains a large ayurvedic pharmacy, the Shri Dhootapapeshwar Panvel Ltd., Mora in Uran Mahal has a big tile factory which manufactures tiles worth two lakhs a year.

MATHERAN (HILL STATION)

Matheran is a hill station and sanitarium, about three hours' journey from Bombay and Poona. Visitors are conveyed up the hill from Neral (Central Rly.) by the Matheran Steam Tramway and Rail Motors. The town is about 2,500 feet above sea-level, and is a favourite hot weather resort. The maximum and minimum temperatures range between 65 and 80 ordinarily and the average rainfall is 200 inches. The place has an agreeable climate.

There are some 31 points round the hill commanding gorgeous views and 35 miles of roads and paths on the hill. There are lovely walks and rides throughout the hill. Its spring water is reputedly good. Pure, filtered and chlorinated water is supplied to all bungalows on the hill by pipes.

Among the amenities of Matheran are several good hotels, a well laid out public park and garden, a bandstand, two children's playgrounds, electric and telephone services and several cool and shady picnic places. During the season the band plays almost daily. The hill is a favourite place for honeymoons. There is the cosmopolitan Matheran Club and the Parsi Gymkhana in Matheran, with tennis courts, two sanitariums for Parsis, three for Hindus and one for Ismaili Khojas available for convalescents.

The hill offers excellent opportunities for shikar and a good shot is certain to carry his trophy of spotted skin, even within a short stay.

The Municipality maintains an up-to-date hospital for both in and out patients. There is a Post and Telegraphs Office, a Revenue office and a Stipendiary Magistrate's court, police station and a forest depot.

KOLHAPUR DISTRICT

Headquarters : Kolhapur.

Talukas and Mahals : Karwir, Panhala, Shahuwadi, Radhanagari, Bhudargad, Hatkanangle, Gadhnigaj, Kagal, Shirol, Bavada, Ajara.

The old Kolhapur State in the Deccan was integrated completely with Bombay State on August 1, 1949, and was transformed into a District as in the case of some of the other States merged into Bombay. Kolhapur District as it is now called lies between 17° 10' 45" and 15° 50' 20" North Latitude; and 74° 44' 11" and 73° 43' 16" East Longitude. The District is bounded on the north by the river Warana, on the north-east by the river Krishna, on the east and south by the District of Belgaum, and on the west by the Sahyadri Mountains, which divide it from the Ratnagiri District on the south-west and the west. The undulating country, in which the District is situated, is about 2,000 feet above sea-level in proximity to the eastern slope of the Sahyadris which renders the greater part of the District free from famine. The six large rivers of the District, namely, the Krishna, the Panchaganga, the Warna, the Dudhaganga, the Vedganga and Hiranyakeshi, with their several tributaries flow through and drain the District, facilitating extensive irrigation of lands in several parts of the District. The hills are the main feature of the District. They include the main range of the Sahyadris running north to south for about 100 miles and form the western boundary of the District. They contain some of the finest and most abundant supplies of bauxite in the world situated at places, where an unlimited and very profitable exploitation with the aid of cheap hydro-electric power is a practical proposition.

The total area of the District is 2,756 square miles and the population according to 1951 census is 1,227,547. The language spoken is mostly Marathi, though Kannada is also spoken in a few parts. Kolhapur city, the headquarters, is a great trading centre for jaggersy.

COMMUNICATIONS

The Kolhapur-Miraj railway line runs from Kolhapur to Miraj and is connected with the Southern Railway line running between Poona and Bangalore. The District is well served by roads and the Poona-Bangalore, the Kolhapur-Ratnagiri, the Kolhapur-Miraj roads in the District are all used for passenger traffic as well as for transport of goods.

AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY

The chief agricultural products are jawar, rice, cotton, nagli, bajra, wheat, tobacco, sugarcane and ground-nut.

Besides one cotton mill, there are 12 ginning factories, two ginning and pressing mills, one ice factory, one sugar mill, 100 ginning and powdering mills, 19 ground-nut crushing mills, nine ground-nut, oil mills, three cinema-film-producing companies, three workshops for constructing ferry boats, two soap factories and eight workshops for repairing motor-engines and constructing motor car bodies. In one of these workshops, motor gas plants are manufactured.

NORTH KANARA DISTRICT

Headquarters : Karwar.

Talukas and Mahals : Halyal, Sirsi, Kumta, Ankola, Karwar, Siddapur, Yellapur, Honavar, Mundgod, Supa, Bhatkal.

North Kanara is a District on the Konkan Coast between 15°55' and 16°31' N. and 74°0' and 75°10' E. It is bounded on the north by Goa and the Belgaum District; on the east by the Dharwar District and Mysore State, on the south by South Kanara and on the west by the Arabian Sea. The Sahyadri range of the Western Ghats varying in height from 2,500 to 3,000 feet runs through the District from the south to the north, dividing it into two tracts, the uplands or Balaghat and the lowlands or Payan Ghat. Area : 3,971 sq. miles

The climate varies from place to place; the western portion though moist is healthy. But the forest tracts especially the uplands are always malarial. The continual use of D D T has latterly retarded the fever to some extent. On the coast strip, the temperature falls to 69° in January and rises to 91° in May, while the uplands are comparatively cool throughout the year. Yellapur now rld completely of its malaria should quickly develop into a health resort.

The total population according to 1951 census is 517,780 showing an increase of 17.3 per cent over the 1941 census. The increase is ascribed to increase in birth-rate and increase of immigrants from Madras State, Goa and other neighbouring districts. Of the total population, 391,220 are rural and 124,560 are urban; 203,030 are rural males and 60,167 are urban males; 191,181 are rural females and 63,393 are urban females. There are 91,689 houses in the district and of them 70,154 are rural and 21,535 are urban. Of the 1,415 villages in the district, 107 are deserted. 159 villages have a population below 25 persons each. In all 1,235 towns and villages are inhabited. 1,025 villages have a population less than 500 each. There are four towns with a population between 10,000 and 20,000. 81,900 persons are cultivators of land wholly or mainly owned by them and their dependents. 181,239 persons are cultivators of land wholly or mainly owned by them and their dependents. 45,831 persons are cultivating labourers and their dependents. 31,716 persons depend for their livelihood on commerce. 124,561 people are illiterate, of which 89,327 are males and 35,234 are females.

Karwar, the headquarters of the District, possesses a fine natural harbour with great potentialities. The natural attractions of the country around, with its forests, beaches, hills, the variety of wild game, fishing attractions and the salubrious climate make Karwar a good health resort and a centre for tourists.

AGRICULTURE

Agriculture is the mainstay of the people. It supports 68 per cent of the population. Of the total area of 2,526,787 acres, 43,813 acres are fallow. These fallows can be divided under the following heads, viz poverty 5,912 acres, inadequate supply of water 5,461 acres, malarious climate 791 acres, silting of canals and rivers 298 acres, unremunerative nature of farming 11,242 acres and others 20,119 acres. Cultivable waste is 66,024 acres. Food crops are grown in 231,086 acres and non-food crops on 52,431 acres.

Paddy occupies 187,222 acres, ragi occupies 2,028 acres, black gram 441 acres and horse gram 68 acres.

Of the cash crops : Sugarcane occupies 3,388 acres; coconuts 1,513 acres. Of the fruits : mangoes are grown on 1,622 acres; banana on 3,635 acres; pine apple on 1,121 acres; sweet potatoes 654 acres; onions 367 acres. Of the non-food crops - betel-nuts cover an area of 3,087 acres; pepper 1,101 acres and betel-leaves 395 acres.

Rice which is most widely grown is responsible roughly for 75 per cent of the net cropped area. The average yield ranges from 5 to 40 maunds per maund of seed. The introduction of the Japanese method of cultivation has improved matters in many tracts and is responsible for larger yields. Another agricultural product the cultivation of which is fast developing in the loose sandy soil of Kanara is groundnut. An experiment made by the authorities of the training school at Karwar resulted in a yield of 600 lb. of dried groundnut costing Rs 200 for half an acre. This compares very favourably to the Dharwar yield which on an average is 800 to 1,000 lb. per acre.

There were 16 colonisation schemes launched by Government some years ago. Out of these only 3 are working at present. Two are in Mundgod taluka viz.: Indoor and Ramapur and one in Ankola taluka viz.: Hillur. In Indoor, 1,462 out of the ear-marked 1,500 acres are brought under cultivation. Similarly out of a target of 314 and 284 acres of Ramapur and Hillur schemes respectively 285 and 215 acres are brought under cultivation. There is one Sarvodaya Scheme working in the village of Hichkad in Ankola taluka.

IRRIGATION

Latterly the Government commenced to irrigate certain tracts, and plans were put up in this connection. In 1951-52, 87 of such works were in progress of which 24 were completed. The total mileage of Government canals is 71 and of canals of private ownership is 176 miles. The total number of wells used for irrigation are : 16,872, and for domestic use 300,092.

FORESTS

Roughly 80 per cent of the area of the district is forest. It approximates to 3,005 square miles. Out of this in 1950-51, 2,417 square miles are forest proper and the rest are pasture reserves. 215 square miles of forests are in charge of the Revenue Department. 1,220 square miles are under working plans. In 1950-51, 696,853 cft. of teak, 34,929 cft of blackwood and 716,058 cft. of jungle wood was brought to the various depots by Government and private agency. The growing of hill paddy in the plantations was a great success in Kanara.

FISHERIES

The total population of fishermen is about 26,000. The average annual yield is about 20,000 tons. There are about 70 rampants operating throughout the coast. Fresh fish and salted dry fish are exported to Bombay, Belgaum, Hubli, Mangalore, Bunkapur and various other places. There are 15 curing yards in the district, and the total quantity of fish brought to be cured in 1950-51 was 227,506 maunds.

COMMUNICATIONS

There are proposals to connect Karwar with Hubli or Alnavar. But the schemes are only in the exploratory stage. The W I P B. passes through Supa and the distance covered by it is about 32 miles.

Karwar-Bhatkal road is the national highway and is the Kanara portion of the Bombay-Trivandrum national highway. Of the State Roads, the P.W.D. maintains 592 miles, and the District Local Board 700 miles. Each Municipality maintains some roads within its own sphere. The average mileage per village is 9.5, and per thousand of population the average is 4 miles. The mileage per square mile for the whole area is 3.4. Latterly the Government has been constructing a cement road on the highway Kanara-Hubli-Karwar—a distance of 102 miles.

The Bombay State Road Transport Corporation plies practically throughout the district with the monopoly of passenger traffic. Of the 3 main passes, Arball, and Devimane are open throughout the year. Only Anshi Ghat is closed in the monsoon.

River navigation played a prominent part in the history of Kanara. At present vessels up to 10 tons can go up to a distance of 20 miles in Kali River.

The steamers of the Scindia Steam Navigation Company touch Karwar, Tadri, Kumta and Bhatkal during the fair season. There is no all weather port.

PORTS

The chief ports from north to south are Sadashivgad, Karwar, Ankola, Gangavli, Tadri, Kumta, Honnavar, Monk and Bhatkal. Sailing craft touch all these ports. The most important commodities of export are timber, fuel, charcoal, bamboos, manganese and sweet potatoes and onions. Fresh fish is transported from almost all of the ports by motor launches to Bombay. The principal imports are grains, sugar, pulses, kerosene oil, coconut oil, Mangalore lites, etc. The value of imports at Karwar is about Rs. 5 lakhs a year and of exports about 2 lakhs.

MINERALS

The only mineral that is successfully tackled at present is manganese ore. About 20,000 tons are exported every year to dollar areas.

INDUSTRIES

Among the important industries are the Government saw mills, and a plywood factory at Dandelli; a few rice and saw mills have sprung up throughout the district, but this is due to the policy of the rationing department of the Government substituting the mill for the pounding woman. These mills only mill government paddy.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

On account of the vast forest wealth Kanara has a bright future for the development of cottage industries. Co-operative department is just now concentrating its attention on its development. Coir works, horn works, sandal-making, tanning, etc., have been taken up by the department. Bee-keeping is a favourite industry initiated by Government and in a forest tract like Kanara it has a bright future. Already there are 4,500 colonies in the district and the honey yield is about 30 to 35 thousand lb. a year.

Garden industries of cashew, mango, coconut, pine apple, etc., could successfully be established on a wide scale. If the vast ganji lands are utilised for coconut cultivation as is done in Kerala backwaters not only the deficit of coconuts could be made up, but surplus could be made available for export. Cashew is a wild plant in Kanara. It requires neither watering nor manuring. The vast area that is occupied by minor hills and forests if utilised for cashew cultivation would add considerably to the wealth of the district.

The total area covered with bamboos is 89,000 acres and lies mainly on the slopes of the Gangavli and Kali rivers. A paper pulp factory is quite a feasibility with this initial acreage.

An area of about 25,570 acres of forest is covered with very useful species of palm known as the tall palm. This provides annually about 1,500 mature palms yielding about 300 tons of edible sago flour giving means of subsistence to about 8,000 people. The chief produce is tall-chakki or pitch from which edible flour is prepared.

Baswarajadurga an island off Honnavar produces the best quality of Cavi or reddie which is used for painting the houses. The elephant grass that is found round about Kadra is capable of producing artificial silk

PANCH MAHALS DISTRICT

Headquarters : Godhra.

Talukas and Mahals : Godhra, Dohad, Kalol, Halol, Jhalod, Deogadh-Baria, Limkheda, Santrampur, Lunawada, Shehera, Jambughoda.

The Panch Mahals District lies between 22°15' and 23°11' North Latitude and 73°22' and 74°29' East Longitude. It is divided into three sub-divisions. The Godhra sub-division includes Godhra City and Godhra Taluka, with the headquarters of Prant Officer (Dist. Dy. Collector) at Godhra. Personal Assistant to the Collector is Ex-Officio Prant Officer of Godhra Sub-division. Eastern Sub-division includes Dohad, Jhalod, Deogadh-Baria and Limkheda talukas with the headquarters of the Prant Officer at Dohad (provisionally kept at Deogadh-Baria). The Western Sub-division includes Lunawada, Santrampur, Kalol and Halol Talukas, and Jambughoda Mahal with headquarters of the Prant Officer at Godhra.

The District expanded on June 10, 1948 with the merger into it of the former States of Deogadh-Baria, Lunawada, Santrampur, Jambughoda and Sanjeli. The area of the District after the merger is 3,500 sq. miles and the population according to 1951 census is 1,148,432. The total number of displaced persons from Pakistan enumerated in total population of Panch Mahals is 4,186 inclusive of 2,310 males and 1,876 females. The language spoken is Gujarati.

Agricultural produce includes cereals of all sorts, pulses, oil-seeds including ground-nuts, Til and Mahuwa seeds and to a small extent cotton and tobacco. Acreage under different crops is as follows : Maize 24,817 acres, paddy 281,427, bajri 57,533, bantli 17,259, kodra 42,985, ground-nuts 147,254, tobacco and cotton 23,000, vegetation 1,400. The total arable land in the District is 1,286,000. The average yield of cereals and ground-nuts per acre is 1,200 lb.

The District has a forest area (inclusive of that of the merged States) of 1,099.85 sq. miles which produces timber such as country teak-wood, Mahuwa and Sadad. Mhowra flowers and timru leaves for bidi manufacture and hay fodder are a principal produce of the forests. Other minor produce are bamboo, gum, lac, asotri-leaves, Khakhra-leaves, Kochia grass used for extracting scents, ghat-bor, Kannu-seed, Anlu, honey and wax. Worked on proper lines the forest areas are an asset to Bombay State as the forests are situated in the vicinity of railway stations. The Panch Mahals District exports large quantities of timber, bamboo, firewood, scuntlings, charcoal and hay to various Districts in Bombay State and Saurashtra.

Two forest divisions were formed, one called Panch Mahals Division with an area of 315.33 sq. miles including Godhra, Dohad, Jhalod, Kalol and Shehera Talukas with the headquarters of the Divisional Forest Officer at Godhra and the other being the Gujarat States Division with an area of about 784.52 sq. miles comprising the rest of the talukas and the merged States of South Gujarat with the exception of Banaskantha and Sabarkantha Districts of North Gujarat—the headquarters of the Divisional Forest Officer being at Deogadh-Baria. Both these forest divisions are within the jurisdiction of the Conservator of Forests, North-West Circle, Baroda.

The south-west portion of the District is a level tract of rich soil (except for the Pavagadh Hill) while the northern portion though it contains some fertile valleys is generally rugged, undulating and barren with but little cultivation. Large tracts are however being reclaimed through soil conservation schemes and bunding process. The current year's average rainfall in the district is 30 inches. The maximum temperature in 1953 was 114° and minimum around 60°.

The District contains the famous ruins of Champaner which was a stronghold of Rajput kings belonging to Raol and the Taru dynasty. The hill of Pavagadh is about 2,500 feet in height and can be developed into a hill-station or cheap summer resort through provision of power rope-ways. Pavagadh is considered by Hindus to be a place of special interest and holiness. The hill itself contains the famous ruins of the ancient possessions of the Rajput king Patal Raol. The Archaeological Department of the Government of India has preserved various ancient monuments on the hill itself and those at the foot of the hill. The plateau of Ratanmal in Deogadh-Baria Taluka is several square miles in area and is an ideal place as an emergency landing ground for light aircrafts. It also possesses rich herbs of medicinal value in the slopes of the plateau. Then there are the hot springs believed to have sulphur deposits, the medical properties of which are not yet fully explored, situated at Tuwa, a station about 7 miles from Godhra on the Godhra-Anand (broad-gauge) branch line of the Western Railway.

COMMUNICATIONS

The railways and buses are the main means of communication. There is the Western Rly. main line from Bombay to Meerut which runs through the Panch Mahals via Godhra. Then there is the Anand-Godhra Branch line (broad-gauge) and the Godhra-Lunawada section of the Western Railway (narrow-gauge), the narrow-gauge section of Champaner Road-Pani Mines running from Champaner Road Station of the broad-gauge main line terminating at Pani Mines via Halol and Shivrampur, and Piprod-Deogadh-Baria section of Western Railway. The last three are narrow-gauge sections worked by the Western Rly. administration. Passenger bus services of the Bombay State Road Transport Corporation, Bombay, are operating between Godhra-Dohad, Godhra-Shivrampur-Bodell, Dohad-Jhalod, Dohad-Alirajpur (Madhya Bharat), Godhra-Shehera-Lunawada, Godhra-Pandu via Kalol and Sant Road-Santrampur. An out-agency for goods traffic by the Western Rly. is operated between Dohad-Jhalod on contract system. After the expansion of the District a very wide area without any means of communication has been added. This includes large rural tracts of Deogadh-Baria, Lunawada, Sant, Santrampur, Sanjeli, Kadana, and Jambughoda where primitive means of communication, such as bullock-carts, camels, horses, donkeys and country ferries are still in use, in the absence of modern roads.

Godhra City, Lunawada, Deogadh-Baria, Dohad and Santrampur have municipalities, Godhra being a borough and the others town municipalities. All other talukas have village panchayats numbering about 38. Godhra, Dohad, Deogadh-Baria, Lunawada and Santrampur have electric facilities. Godhra, Dohad, Lunawada and Vejalpur are on the trunk telephone exchange from where one can make trunk calls. Lunawada, Vejalpur and Derol have only public trunk call offices at the Post Office while Godhra and Dohad have Government telephone exchanges open to public subscribers. Deogadh-Baria, will shortly have a Trunk Call Office. Freelandgunj in the Dohad Taluka is the headquarters of the Works Superintendent, Divisional Electrical Engineer, District Medical Officer and other officials of the Western Railway. It contains the Locomotive Shops of the Western Rly. and has extensive quarters for railway employees with library, reading room, sports club and Maternity and Child Welfare Centres.

The District contains rich mineral deposits, such as manganese ore and galena ore. Big mines of manganese ore are worked at Shivrampur, Baman Kuwa and Pani Mines. A number of other spots in the District are also supposed to contain manganese and other ores, while galena is found in Bhamaria Talukdari Estate in Halol Taluka.

The dry bed of the Panam River near Sant Road Station on the Godhra-Katham line and that of the Meshri River at Godhra contain quality sand used for preparing glassware and generally for building construction. A stone quarry exists at Timba, a village in Godhra Taluka. Gravel used for reinforced concrete works comes from the quarry which is worked at Thuba Road Station on the Godhra-Anand Rly. line.

There is a glass factory at Sant Road Station, about 12 miles from Godhra.

POONA DISTRICT

Headquarters: Poona.

Talukas or Mahals: Ambegaon, Baramati (Bhimtadi), Dhond, Haveli, Indapur, Junnar, Khed, Mawal, Mulshi, Poona City, Purandhar, Sirur, Bhore, Velhe.

Poona District lies between North Latitude 17° 54' and 19° 23' and East Longitude 73° 24' and 75° 13'. It is bounded on the north by the Districts of Thana and Ahmednagar, on the South by Satara North, Sholapur and the former Phaltan State, on the east by the Districts of Ahmednagar and Sholapur, and on the west by the Sahyadri Hills. In March 1948 a large part of the Bhore State with a population of about 120,000 was added to the Poona District consequent upon the merger of that State with Bombay State. The premerger area of the District was 5,369 sq. miles and the population 1,359,408. The population according to 1951 census is 1,950,976, and the area 6,025 sq. miles. The language spoken is Marathi.

The city proper extends along the Mutha river for about 1½ miles inland; its length is about 2 miles from east to west and its breadth about 1½ miles, the total area being about 2½ square miles.

Towards the west the country is undulating and intersected by numerous spurs of the Western Ghats, which break off in a south-easterly direction, becoming lower as they pass eastwards, and in the end sinking to the general level of the plain. Many streams rise in the Western Ghats and flow eastwards until they join the Bhima river, which passes through the District from north-west to south-east. The main tributaries are Vel, Ghod, Bhama, Indrayani, Mula and Nira. The rainfall varies considerably in different parts of the District. In the western parts it is heavy and regular, in the central belt moderate, and in the east very irregular. The main crops are paddy and jawar. But the District is a deficit area in the matter of food grain. One of the products of which the District has an exportable surplus is jaggery produced from sugarcane.

The District is well served by road and railway. The Central Railway traverses the District from west to east, and this section is joined at Dhond by the north to south cross connection from Mahmud. The Southern Railway runs from Poona southwards for a distance of about 50 miles in the District. The District has also communication with Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Belgaum, Satara, and Kolaba Districts by road. The Poona-Agra Road is also one of the arterial roads of the country as a whole.

Until a few years ago the headquarters of the Bombay Government during the monsoon, the city of Poona lies at the confluence of two small rivers, the Mutha and the Mula, on the Western margin of the Deccan plateau at a height of about 1,800 ft. above sea-level. Only 30 miles separate the city from the main range of the Western Ghats and 110 miles from the State capital, Bombay. The annual exodus of Government to Poona, however, has now been stopped, but the monsoon meetings of the Houses of Legislature continue to be held there.

The city is surrounded by uplands and hills. The climate of Poona is dry during most of the year and very different from that obtaining in the coastal towns of Bombay State. On account of its elevation and dryness, Poona is cool during nights even in summer. The city is at its best during the monsoon—June to September. Apart from the monsoon sessions of the legislature, the city is the venue of horse racing organised by the Royal Western India Turf Club.

The importance of Poona from the military point of view is growing. It is the headquarters of the Southern Command and also of the Poona Sub-Area. The Poona and Kirkee Cantonments have many military establishments, some of an all-India character, including the Bombay Engineering Centre at Kirkee. A wing of the Indian Air Force is also posted to Poona. Some of the other military establishments around Poona are: the Ordnance Depot and the Arsenal at Kirkee and the Vehicles Depot at Dehu Road. The Indian Navy Mechanical Training establishment, I.N.S. "Shivaji", is located at Lonavla, 40 miles from Poona.

Poona Municipal Corporation: A Corporation for the city of Poona was created on February 15, 1950. The Bombay Government appointed in July 1947 a committee since known as the Bhat Committee to examine and report on measures required to ensure the efficient municipal government of the Greater Poona region. The Bhat Committee which reported in November 1947 strongly recommended the amalgamation of the areas included in the limits of Poona city and the suburban municipalities, the two Cantonment Boards and certain other adjoining areas for purposes of municipal government. The Committee also recommended that the municipal government of this area should be entrusted to "an autonomous Municipal Corporation on the lines of the Bombay Municipal Corporation." The Corporation was inaugurated under the Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporation Act, 1949.

The municipal budget proposals for 1954-55 show an estimated income of Rs. 1,11,72,000, including additional revenue from new or enhanced taxation, and expenditure of Rs. 1,18,57,000, leaving a deficit of Rs. 6,85,000. The Municipal Commissioner has therefore proposed the levy of a profession tax and enhancement of the rates of general tax, water tax and conservancy tax.

The Municipal Commissioner has approached the Central Government, through the Bombay Government, for an allotment of Rs. one crore out of the bulk allotment of Rs. 10 crores set aside by the Planning Commission for municipal water supply schemes. The project proposed to be financed from this amount consists of tapping the below-sill water from Khadakvasla, bringing it by underground pipes to Parnavi Hill, filtering it and supplying it to the citizens.

A draft outline of a five-year development programme for the Poona Corporation area has been prepared by the Municipal Commissioner. This is expected to cost Rs. 1,17,65,000.

The more important of the institutions of All-India character located in Poona are given below:

Meteorological Office: The technical headquarters of the India Meteorological Department, the Meteorological Office in Poona, is located on the Ganeshkhind Road at Shivajinagar, in a magnificent building with a conspicuous clock tower.

The Poona Weather Office is equipped with a workshop and laboratory and a training school for the initial training of entrants into service in all grades, from observers to forecasting officers.

National Defence Academy, Khadakvasla: Poona has been chosen as the venue of the National Defence Academy, the foundation stone of which was laid by the Prime Minister, Mr. Jawaharlal Nehru, on October 6, 1949. The Academy stands on a site of unrivalled scenic beauty in the lovely Mutha valley at Khadakvasla, 11 miles from Poona. The Academy estate which has been gifted by the Bombay Government comprises an area approximately 6,200 acres on the left bank of the Mutha river, the 200-year old administrative seat of Peshwa rule. The Academy will be the only one of its kind anywhere in which cadets will be educated and trained together for the Army, Navy and Air Force. Education will be spread over three years and will cover a comprehensive course in history, modern languages, engineering and various scientific subjects as well as purely military subjects. Provision is being made for the admission of 500 cadets every year. When the Academy is in full swing it will have a maximum of 1,500 cadets. The first batch of cadets will commence their training at the Academy from 1955.

School of Military Engineering, Kirkee: Intended to meet the training requirements of the Indian Engineers, the School of Military Engineering at Kirkee, near Poona, is the only institution of its kind in the country. It imparts basic and advanced technical training to engineer officers of the Indian Army. The cost of the building project and lands for the school is Rs. 3 crores. The first two phases of the project, namely the construction of Field Engineering and the Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Wings are now complete and the third stage which includes construction of the wing for Civil Engineering and residential accommodation is expected to be completed in 1956.

Armed Forces Medical College: Established in 1948, the Armed Forces Medical College in Poona provides courses for officers and other ranks of the Medical Services of the Army, Navy and Air Force. The courses for officers are designed to keep army doctors and surgeons abreast of current advances in medicine, to teach them organisation and administration, to fit them eventually for command of hospitals and field medical units and equivalent appointments in the Navy and Air Force and to help in selection of officers for specialisation in professional subjects.

Central Water and Power Research Station: The oldest irrigation research institution in India, the Central Water and Power Research Station was established in 1920 and is located at Khadakvasla where facilities exist for hydraulic research. The station is well-equipped to undertake model studies of rivers, canals and canal works and gives expert technical advice to the Central and State Governments as well as ports and railways. The station is noted chiefly for its large scale model experiments. Consequent on Government's policy of launching upon large multi-purpose river-valley projects the Poona station has lately been enlarged.

National Chemical Laboratory: The first of a chain of eleven laboratories to be sponsored by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research in the country, the National Chemical Laboratory at Pashan, six miles from Poona, is intended to be a link between universities, scientific bodies and industrial associations in India. It was declared open by the Prime Minister, Mr. Jawaharlal Nehru on January 3, 1950. One of its main functions is to serve the scientific and industrial development of the country and to discover ways and means for the application of scientific knowledge to practical problems of human welfare. Another object is to undertake fundamental research. Prof. G. I. Finch, F.R.S., an eminent scientist, is the Director of the Laboratory.

LONAVLA

This hill station is situated at the top of the Bhore Ghat incline about 2,027 feet above sea-level. It has extensive Railway quarters for employees, a Railway Dispensary exclusively for Railway employees, a Railway Co-operative Store and two Railway Institutes with Reading Rooms and Library, and Tennis Courts for Railway employees.

Lonavla, Bhangarwadi, Bhushi, Nagargao, Valvan, Tungarli and Khandala are all in the charge of the Lonavla City Municipality established in 1877. The Railway has a Municipality of its own. The Post and Telegraph offices in Lonavla belong to class 2. Church of England, Methodist and Roman Catholic churches, two Masonic lodges—Lodge 'Dawn of Peace' and Lodge 'Barton'—are other important features of the town.

Among the Lakes may be mentioned the 'Tata Sons Hydro-Electric Works Lake' at Valvan (walking distance and drive over a built road), their smaller Lake near the Railwoods, and the Lonavla Municipality's Water Works on the top of the Tungarli Hill about 2½ miles north of the Railway Station. Fishing is allowed both at the Bhushi and the Valvan lakes, the latter being the more suited for the purpose. A permit can be obtained locally from the Water Engineer's office at Lonavla on payment of a fee which includes the use of the Company's boat.

The Railway houses are supplied with water from the Railway Bhushi Tank, about three miles from the Railway Station. The town of Lonavla and its adjacent villages and suburbs are supplied with water from the Municipal Water Works at Tungarli.

Lonavla has a High School, conducted by the Vidya Prasariini Sabha of Poona, a Municipal Dispensary with a Maternity Ward. The Municipality has constructed new vegetable, mutton, beef and fish markets and mutton and beef slaughter houses on modern sanitary principles. There is a Municipal rest-house and Dharmashala on the Lonavla-Bhangarwadi Road. The Railwoods are suitable for picnics and are also a camping ground for Government Officers during the hot season.

About 3½ miles from the Railway is situated the "Tiger's Leap," a promontory which commands a picturesque view of the valley below. The famous Karla Caves are situated on a hill about five miles from Lonavla, and are reached by a built road up to the foot of the hill, and visitors either walk up or are carried up by means of chairs. There is a man in charge of the Caves at the top for assisting visitors. Tongas and victorias can be hired throughout the year. From the Railway Station of Malawali, nearly three miles from Lonavla, visitors can proceed to view the Lohgadhi Fort (now partially demolished) on the top of a hill. The approach to it is by no means easy and visitors must arrange beforehand for chairs—slung on poles—to be sent to the Railway station from the Karla Caves hill or Karla village. This Fort was formerly used as a State prison by the Peshwas. About five miles by road from Lonavla is the Sakar Pathar Hill, a well-known shooting ground where big game may be found.

The terrace garden overlooking Tata's Valvan Lake, and situated at the top of a hill, commanding an extensive view all round, is another attraction for visitors to Lonavla. The garden is mainly financed by the Kalvalyadham Ashram of Lonavla, the Municipality also contributing to its upkeep.

The following are some of the Forts and places of interest:—

Fort of Lohgadhi	3,412 feet above sea-level.
Fort of Visapur	3,542 do.
Fort of Rajmachi which stands on the top of the Shadri Range and commands a grand view of Matheran, Konkan and even part of Bombay ..	2,710 do.
Duke's Nose	2,720 do.
Tungarli Municipal Lake ..	2,276 do. Top of Dam.

There are two good hotels at Lonavla, viz., the Lake View and the Hotel Central. The Hotel Central and the Lake View remain open throughout the year. Mention may also be made of the Khandala hotel at Khandala, which is only 2 miles from Lonavla.

The temperature varies from 65 in the cold weather to 85 in the hottest month.

The rainfall varies from 160 to 250.

The Municipality maintains electric street lights within the Municipal limits.

KHANDALA

Khandala, a health resort, 78 miles from Bombay by rail and 71 by road lies in Mawal Taluka. It is situated at the top of the Bhore Ghat at an elevation of about 2,000 feet above sea-level, and has an agreeable and bracing climate all through the year. The town is electrically lit and possesses adequate water supply brought from the municipal dam in Tungarli hills. It has also the usual postal, telephone and telegraph facilities. Bungalows are available for seasonal lease, and bungalows, sanitarium, hotels are all easily accessible from the railway station. The local population is about 1,500.

Rice is cultivated on a small scale, and there is very little commerce or industry. The town is primarily a health resort, and tourist centre. Among places worth a visit in and around the town are Tata Electric Supply Company's reservoir called Forbay Dam, Byramjee's Point, the Duke's Nose, Tiger's Leap, all of which provide magnificent views of the surrounding country. About nine miles from Khandala are the Karla caves considered to be the oldest specimen of Buddhist caves in India. In Walwan lake which is about four miles from Khandala good mahashir fishing is available.

D. E. SOCIETY'S AHILYADEVI HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Holkar Wada, Poona 2.

The School with 850 pupils and 30 teachers (mostly women) has been steadily furthering the cause of female education and has shown considerable improvement and progress in all its activities in its brief life of ten years. It has distinguished itself in the inter-school competitions for girls by winning championships and trophies and its matriculation results are also very encouraging. The School satisfies all the necessary requirements of the full-fledged modern School. It is singularly fortunate in having its own 16 mm. projector machine which has gone a long way to make the school instruction more realistic. It is hoped that due to the willing public support and sympathy that are profusely extended to the school from time to time, the school is sure to make great headway in the educational field. A great stress is laid on the practical aspects of the subjects that will be useful to the girls in their future day to day life.

LITERARY, SCIENTIFIC AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS

BHANDARKAR ORIENTAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE Poona 4.

The Institute was inaugurated on the 6th of July 1917, the 50th birthday of Late Dr. Sir R. G. Bhandarkar. Its objects are to publish critical editions of texts and original works bearing on Oriental antiquities, to provide an up-to-date Oriental library, to train students in the methods of research and to act as an information bureau on all points connected with Oriental studies. The valuable library of Dr. Sir R. G. Bhandarkar, which he had bequeathed to the Institute, is now located in the central hall of the Institute. Since April 1918 the Government of Bombay have transferred to the custody of the Institute the unique collection of nearly 20,000 manuscripts together with a maintenance grant of Rs. 3,000 a year. Government have likewise entrusted to the Institute a grant of Rs. 12,000 a year for the publication of the B. S. S. and the Government Oriental Series, (the latter including, amongst others, Dr. Kane's History of Dharmashastra in five Volumes). The Institute has also started a series called the Bhandarkar Oriental Series in which several works have been already published and others are in progress. The Institute has undertaken to edit Mahabharata critically at the initiation of the late Raja of Agnadh who donated a grant of Rs. one lakh for that purpose. The Institute has also received so far about Rs. 33,615 from the trustees of the Mahabharata publication fund, London, earmarked for the publication of the Virata, Udyoga and Karna parvans. More than two-thirds of the work on the critical edition has been completed. On 25th March 1944, the Institute inaugurated its Mahabharata printing department with a view to expediting the printing of the Mahabharata edition. The Institute issues a journal called Annals of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute published normally four times a year. It also held under its auspices the first oriental conference on the 6th, 6th and 7th of November 1919 under the patronage of Sir George Lloyd and the presidency of Sir R. G. Bhandarkar.

The Institute is housed in a fine, commodious and fire-proof building. In 1931, the Nizam gave a princely donation of over Rs. 40,000, which has enabled the Institute to build a Guest House for the use of Indian, Asiatic, European and American scholars visiting the Institute for occasional studies. Since August 1927 the Institute had been conducting for several years regular M.A. Classes in Sanskrit, Pali, Ardhamagadhi and ancient Indian culture. Recently the Sanskrit department of this Institute has been affiliated to the University of Poona and students are being coached for the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees of the above mentioned University. Lectures by eminent Scholars are also delivered occasionally. Membership dues Rs. 10 a year or Rs. 100 compounded for life. Members can, subject to certain conditions, borrow books from the library and get the Annals free, and other publications (a list covering over 120 titles sent free upon request) at concession rates.

SERVANTS OF INDIA SOCIETY, POONA 4

The Servants of India Society, founded by the late G. K. Gokhale in 1905, is a body of men who are pledged to devote their life to the service of the country on such allowances as the Society may be able to give. Its objects are to train national missionaries for the service of India and to promote, by all constitutional means, the interests of the Indian people. Its present strength is 23 members. The Society has its headquarters in Poona with branches at Madras, Bombay, Allahabad and Nagpur, and other centres of work at Mangalore and Calicut in the Madras State, Shendurjana in Madhya Pradesh, Lucknow and Kottawara in U.P., Ambala in the Punjab (India), Cuttack and Balgaon in Orissa.

The Society's work is primarily political but as it believes in all-round progress of the Indian people, it has always laid equal emphasis on social, economic, educational, labour and depressed class activities and has worked in these fields. The political work is done through the legislatures, the non-official political organizations, deputations to foreign countries and propaganda.

In the field of social, economic and educational work, the Society's activities are equally varied. Some of its members are practically the founders of such institutions as the Poona Seva Sadan, Bombay and Madras Social Service Leagues, the U.P. Seva Samiti, and the Bhil Seva Mandal catering for the needs and uplift of the aboriginal tribes in Gujarat. The Society is also doing tribal welfare work in the Mirzapur Dist. (U.P.), Orissa and in Malabar on a considerable scale. During natural calamities such as floods, famine and epidemics the Society has done relief work in every part of India. During recent years several members of the Society have paid special attention to rural reconstruction, including rural education.

The Society is a non-communal, non-sectarian body which does not recognise any caste distinctions.

The Society conducts the Hindustan, an English daily issued from Nagpur. It has also published several pamphlets on public questions.

Dr. H. N. Kunzru is the President, and D. V. Ambekar, the Secretary.

Shreemant Sir Malojirao Naik Nimbalkar, Minister in Charge of Public Works, Bombay Government, and 40 other leading industrialists, businessmen, firms and Joint Stock Companies are among its patrons. The Chamber conducts a Marathi Commercial Monthly named the "Sampada" for the benefit of its members and others.

Object and Activities.—Its principal object is to work for the commercial and industrial development of Maharashtra as an integral part of India, through local initiative and effort, and to infuse confidence in the people of the area in the management of economic and financial institutions on modern lines. Among the more noteworthy achievements of the Chambers can be mentioned the promotion of the Bank of Maharashtra, a leading Maharashtra Joint Stock Bank conducted and managed by Maharashtrans, the encouragement of local enterprise in the field of general insurance business, successful advocacy for grant of post-war protection to cocoa-powder and cocoa-chocolate and hurricane lantern industries and protect the power-loom industry.

Every year this Chamber awards the G. S. Parkhe Industrial Merit Prizes and organises the G. P. Ogale Memorial Lecture on economic subjects and also awards to a student of the Brihan Maharashtra College of Commerce the B. S. Karnat Memorial Prize.

Government Recognition and Representations on Various Bodies.—

The Chamber has received the recognition of the Central as well as the Bombay State Governments. It is represented on the Board of Trustees of the Lord Reay Maharashtra Industrial Museum, Poona; the Advisory Committee of the Sub Regional Employment Exchange, Poona Area; the Zonal Railway Users' Consultative Committee of the Southern Railway; the Telephone Advisory Committee, Poona; Bombay Board of Communication, Bombay State; the Regional Post and Telegraph Advisory Committee, Bombay Circle; State Advisory Council of Industries, Bombay; Goods Shed Advisory Committee, Poona. It is one of the two Chambers named for electing two representatives on behalf of trade, industry and commerce on the Court of the Poona University.

RATNAGIRI DISTRICT

Headquarters: Ratnagiri.

Talukas: Dapoli, Mandangad, Khed, Chiplun, Guhagar, Sangameshwar, Ratnagiri, Rajapur, Devgad, Sawantwadi, Malwan.

Pedes: Lanja, Vengurla, Kankavli, Kudal.

Ratnagiri District is bounded on the north by the Kolaba District; on the east by Satara North and Kolhapur Districts; on the south by the Portuguese possessions of Goa; and on the west by the Arabian Sea. By the merger of the Sawantwadi State the area and population of the District have greatly increased. The length of the District is about 230 miles, and the breadth between 30 and 40. The District may be described generally as rocky and rugged. Near the coast the land consists of a bare elevated plateau, intersected by numerous creeks and navigable rivers flowing between steep hills. These rivers have along their banks the chief sea-ports and almost all the fertile land of the District. Ten miles or so inland, the country becomes more open; but going in still farther, it is occupied by spurs of the Sahyadri hills. This range itself forms a continuous eastern boundary, running parallel to the coast, at distances varying from 30 to 45 miles. It varies in height from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, though some of the peaks attain an altitude of 4,000 feet. The banks of the rivers produce fine crops of rice in the rains, and of pulse in the cold weather and some of the inland valleys exhibit the utmost fertility even though the soil is, as a rule, poor and barren. The District is densely populated and a large proportion migrate to Bombay in the fair season. The hill slopes are flooded with plantation of Alphonso and other mango grafts. Alphonso mango, the king of fruits, is exported on a very large scale to Bombay and other markets and forms the main money crop of the District. Ratnagiri, the headquarters town, is open and faces the sea. There is no railway connection, and communication is by steamer with Bombay and by motor with Kolhapur 82 miles away. With the construction of the Bombay-Konkan-Goa road by bridging all the rivers and creeks on the way, Ratnagiri is connected with Bombay by direct bus service via Chiplun, Mahad, Dharamtar, etc. This transport service is now taken over by the State. The area of the District is 6020.9 sq miles. The population of the District (according to the 1951 census) is 1,711,964.

The long coastline of the District has some excellent well-protected ports, which may form important naval centres in the future. Schemes for establishing a naval school and an aerodrome at Ratnagiri are already under consideration.

Ratnagiri, Vengurla, Malwan, Sawantwadi and Chiplun have now all electrical fittings.

SABARKANTHA DISTRICT

Headquarters : Himatnagar.

Talukas or Mahals : Himatnagar, Prantij, Modasa, Rayad, Idar, Khedbrahma, Bhiloda, Meghraj, Vijaynagar, Malpur.

The Sabarkantha District is comprised of the former Idar State and 26 other smaller States, together with Prantij Taluka and Modasa Mahal, formerly in Ahmedabad District. It is bounded on the north by Sirohi and Mewar States (both in Rajasthan), on the south by Ahmedabad and Kalia Districts, on the east by Dungarpur, Banswara and Mewar States of Rajasthan and Lunawada and Balasinor States, now merged with the Panch Mahals and Kaira Districts, and on the west by the new Mehsana District of the former Baroda and Danta States.

The Aravalli Hills border on the north and east. The chief rivers in the District are Sabarmati, Hathmati, Meshwa, Vartak, Mazum and Khari.

The area of Sabarkantha is about 2,845 sq. miles and the population 684,017 according to the 1951 census. Himatnagar, the headquarters of the District, was the capital of the former State of Idar and is situated at a distance of 55 miles from Ahmedabad on the Ahmedabad Prantij section, a metre gauge line, on the Western Rly., which leads upto Khedbrahma, a place of pilgrimage 90 miles from Ahmedabad. Idar, Khedbrahma, Shamlaji, Bhavnath, etc. are places of pilgrimage and historical importance.

The average yearly rainfall is between 25 to 30 inches. About 95 per cent. of the land is dependent wholly on rain water, while only about five per cent. is irrigated by water from wells, streams and canals.

The principal crops are bajri, maize, paddy, jawar, cotton, wheat, sesamum and groundnut of which maize, bajri, groundnut and cotton cover the larger area under cultivation. About 30 per cent. of the people consist of Bhils and other backward classes. The main occupation of the people is agriculture. The north and north-eastern parts of the District are hilly tracts and abound in jungle. Except for a few ginning factories and oil mills, the District is very backward in industry.

On the Ahmedabad Prantij section of the Western Railway, are situated the following District and Taluka headquarters towns, viz. Prantij, Himatnagar, Idar and Khedbrahma. The rest of the taluka headquarters are connected by buses which ply only during the fair season and most of the roads are katcha and sandy.

There are five high schools in the District, 11 middle schools, 350 Government primary schools and 195 Grant-in-aid primary schools. For purposes of medical relief, there is a civil hospital in Himatnagar and 26 dispensaries in the District besides many private dispensaries.

SATARA NORTH DISTRICT

Headquarters : Satara

Talukas and Mahals : Wai, Satara, Koregaon, Khatau, Karad, Patan, Jauli, Man, Phaltan, Khandala, Mahabaleshwar.

Satara North District belongs to the Deccan Division of Bombay State. On the north it is bounded by the former State of Bhor and Poona District, on the south by Walva Taluka and Shirala Mahal, on the east by the Sholapur District, and on the west by the Sahyadri Hills. The former States of Phaltan and Aundh are now merged into the Satara Collectorate.

The population of the District according to 1951 census is 1,175,909 and its area 4,084 sq. miles. The language spoken is Marathi.

From Mahabaleshwar in the north-west corner of the District, 4,717 feet above the sea, start two hill ranges of equal height and nearly at right angles to each other—one the main range of the Sahyadri running towards the south and forming the western boundaries of the District and the other, the Mahadeo range of hills, which, going first in an easterly and then a south-easterly direction, extends towards the eastern boundary, where it sinks gradually into the plain. These hills throw out numerous spurs over the District, forming the valleys of the several streams which make up the head-waters of the Krishna, one of the largest rivers in South India. Near Mahabaleshwar and in the Koyna valley the hills are the highest in the District and are mostly very well wooded.

The soils of the District belong to the three main classes—red in the hills and black and light coloured in the plains. The black soil, especially along the valley of the Krishna, is fertile but scanty rainfall makes part of Khandala tract in Wai Taluka and that part of the District east of the railway most likely to suffer from failure of crops.

The chief agricultural produce are jawar and bajri. Others include ragi, wari, wheat, rice and pulses. Cash crops which are a minor item include tobacco, groundnut and sugar-cane. Some market gardening is done at Mahabaleshwar and Panchgani for Poona and Bombay markets. Mango, jack and guava are grown for their fruit.

Forests in the Sahyadri range have considerable store of timber and fire-wood. Sandalwood and bamboo are occasionally found.

Government have undertaken the Koyna river project envisaging the construction of a gigantic Dam close to Helwak village (Patan Taluka) water from which can be used for agricultural purposes by people from Satara, Sholapur and Bijapur Districts and for generating electricity for industrial purposes. It is estimated that the dam will take about ten years to complete.

Satara and Karad Municipalities have sanctioned the raising of large loans for their water schemes. Government has advanced loans for sinking wells for agricultural and drinking purposes. The Satara District Local Board was the first in the State to increase local fund cess from two to three annas to meet growing expenditure on education, sanitation, etc.

Satara North being chiefly agricultural the Government High School at Satara has been converted into an Agricultural High School. Industrial and Agricultural Model Schools have also been started at Satara and Borgaon respectively, under State management. Most Taluka towns have High Schools and practically every village has a Free Primary School run with Grant-in-aid. The 'Rayat Shikshana Sanstha', Satara, is doing useful work in this sphere with its Free Cosmopolitan Boarding at Satara, accommodating about four hundred students mostly from rural areas.

Satara 'Nagar Vachnalaya' (Library) is open to the public free of charge under the new State Scheme on an experimental basis on certain terms and conditions. Physical education receives due consideration both from public and Government and the Home Guards organisation is taking firm root in the District. This being a martial District, Free Boardings are run by Government at Satara and Karad for the sons and dependents of the Defence Forces in the Army, Navy and Air Forces. The After Care Association and 'The Soldiers' Board' are doing useful work under the supervision of the Collector.

COMMUNICATIONS

The main line of communications is the Southern Railway which traverses the centre of the District for about 90 miles from north to south. Satara, the headquarters, is about 10 miles from Satara Road Station. Then there is the Poona-Bangalore Road, crossing the District from north to south. Other important roads include the Wathar-Mahabaleshwar Road via Wai and Panchgani. Also east to west are the Satara-Pandharpur and the Karad-Chiplun Roads. There are numerous feeder roads for the railway. The Willingdon Bridge at Mahuli near Satara has greatly facilitated traffic to Pandharpur and the new bridge over the Krishna at Karad has promoted trade between Chiplun in Ratnagiri District and trade centres on the Southern Railway.

INDUSTRIES

There is a large engineering concern manufacturing farm implements, machine tools, and textile machinery at Satara Road Station. An engineering concern has recently been established at Udyamnagar near Karad while the one at Karad proper has been expanded with State aid. At Ogalewadi near Karad are the well-known glass works. The Sugar Works at Phaltan also deserve special mention. The Plastic Products of India, Ltd., Satara, a new industry, in the Deccan, has secured State aid.

The District is trying to maintain the lead it has once achieved in Co-operative Movement. The total number of societies (including 219 borrowing) was 612 on the 30th of June 1950. The amount of loans to agriculturist exceeded seven lakhs of Rupees and the membership stood at 2,809. A District Central Co-operative Bank was recently opened at Satara.

The Grow More Food Campaign is making headway. Over 150 oil engines are working in the District. More than 80 Forest Nurseries are functioning in the District and they have recently supplied thousands of useful saplings to villages. Gun clubs have been founded in a large number of villages to protect crops from wild beasts.

Supply of good seed and modern manure, digging of compost manure pits, and Agriculture exhibitions deserve special mention. The Village Development Board with even distribution of officials and non-officials is working with zeal in this behalf.

The District has taken a lead in starting "Gram Sevak Dal", i.e. Village Service Corps to further the cause of the Development Association and a score of villages have been selected for intense work.

Besides the Training Cadet Corps, the scout movement has been revived under the name "Bharat Scout and Guide Association" under non-official guidance.

The State Transport Bus Corporation has erected a new bus station at Hajeri Mal at the east end of Satara City, on the Poona-Bangalore road with a spacious waiting-room, a refreshment hall and other amenities for the travelling public. It was inaugurated on the 15th of December 1950. The State Transport buses are now plying on all important roads in the District.

SATARA DISTRICT LOCAL BOARD

The Satara District Local Board was divided into North and South District Boards on 1st August 1949. The Board is composed of 41 members all elected, of whom 31 are general, six scheduled classes, three Muslims and one woman. It has an income of Rs. 11,35,000 and an expenditure of Rs. 11,82,000. There are 200 miles of metalled roads, 445 miles of unmetalled roads and 190 miles of approach roads, 753 schools having 116,000 pupils, six allopathic, 17 Ayurvedic, 17 subsidised and 10 veterinary dispensaries. The Board manufactures ayurvedic drugs for its use. There are also 67 village panchayats.

SATARA CITY BOROUGH MUNICIPALITY

Established on the 1st August 1853, the municipality has an area of 13 sq. miles, a population of 87,887 (according to 1951 census), and 23 elected members including four Muslims, three Harijans and one woman. The main sources of income are octroi, house tax, water rates, sanitary cess, toll tax, fees, etc.

It gets a Government grant of Rs. 1,46,184 and has an expenditure of Rs. 5,00,000. Settled and chlorinated water is brought from Kas hill about 15 miles away. A new scheme costing Rs. 14 lakhs for bringing filtered water has been sanctioned. Streets are lit partly by electric lights and the remaining by petrolmax. Free and compulsory primary education was introduced as early as 1921.

HOSPITALS

BHADKAMKAR CHARITABLE HOSPITAL, KARAD (B93D).

'Bhadkamkar Charitable Hospital', a unique institution in Karad, started on the occasion of 61st birthday (May 1943) of a leading physician of Maharashtra, is open to all castes, creeds, communities alike. Equipped with ultra-violet lamp, Pathological Laboratory, maternity ward, minor surgical operation theatre, ophthalmic room, the hospital since its inception benefited over 50,000 patients.

A T. B. Sanatorium is a crying need and the people of this District residing elsewhere are requested to contribute liberally. The building project is in hand.

Hon. G. Mavalankar, Speaker, Parliament, Mr. N. V. Gadgil, Dr. Mhatre, A.D.P.N., Sir J. A. Madan among others, have praised this institution. Mahatma Gandhi has eulogised its Secretary for the institution's humanitarian work, saying "There is no higher morality than to save human life".

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

DECCAN EDUCATION SOCIETY'S NEW ENGLISH SCHOOL SATARA

Founded in the year 1899, this institution was the first to be started by the D. E. Society, outside Poona. For the first two decades the management had to encounter great difficulties in respect of housing, Government grant, restriction put by Government on the maximum number of pupils, etc. But the devotion, efforts and tact of the late S. G. Deodhar, B.A.—the founder and first Superintendent (till 1919) enabled the management to tide over all the difficulties and give the school a footing at once sound and prosperous.

The school provides facilities to pupils in the intellectual, cultural and social spheres. In the field of physical education and in matters of athletics and gymnastics it has acquired a place of its own as the pioneer institution in the Deccan.

The total expenditure over buildings, furniture, equipment and playgrounds exceeds two and a half lakhs of rupees. The school celebrated its Golden Jubilee on December 6, 1949. Donations to the tune of Rs. 33,000 were collected from well-wishers of the school.

The strength of the school is about 13,000; a set of public audience apparatus has been fitted; A 16-mm. Projector is owned for the pupils; literary circles (English & Marathi) are being run; daily prayers; occasional trips and excursions; scouting and students' Parliament of 30 cadets is under training.

Under a proposal from the Director of Technical Education, Bombay State, the School has undertaken since 1950, to send pupils from one division of each standard from Standard VIII onwards to receive instruction in technical subjects in the Government School of Industry, Satara, thus giving the much needed bias to an all-exclusive study of cultural subjects done so far.

Officer-bearers:—J. K. Ranade, M.A., B.T. (Superintendent); Asstt. Supdt.—S. G. Devare, B.A., B.T.; M. B. Walambe, B.A., B.T.; Members, Local Advisory Board:—Dr. M. N. Agashe; S. H. Sathe, B.A., LL.B.; N. G. Joshi, B.A., LL.B.

GOVERNMENT AGRICULTURAL HIGH SCHOOL, SATARA

Started as English Teaching School in 1851 by Government. The first batch was for Matriculation Examination in 1872. Converted into Agricultural School in 1939. The number on rolls is over 400.

Situated in the heart of the city, in the Old Palace, the School imparts instruction mainly in Agriculture along with other subjects from Std. VIII to XI, the principal aim being that of creating pupils who would take up Agriculture as future career. Also sends up pupils for the S. S. C. Examination.

Possesses a Farm of 22 acres in area only four furlongs from the School with ample irrigation facilities; pupils are trained in the practical side of the profession including Dairy and Poultry as subsidiary industries.

Special features include an Agricultural Museum, an Agricultural Library and a Co-operative Society.

A sub-unit of 30 cadets has been allotted to this High School under the scheme of the Junior Division of the National Cadet Corps.

A Hostel attached to the School since 1913 accommodates about 60 pupils and is fully occupied.

MAHARASHTRA HIGH SCHOOL, KARAD

The Maharashtra High School, Karad, is run by the Maharashtra Education Society, Karad—founded in 1938 by a number of prominent merchants of the town. G. P. Deo, the founder of the school, handed it over to the newly formed Society with all its property and equipment. The A. V. School grew in popularity and was soon developed into a High School and the first batch of students was sent up for the Matriculation in 1942. There are at present 250 boys and girls on the rolls.

RAYAT SHIKSHAN SANSTHA, SATARA

(Educational Society for Masses)

This Society was founded by Karmaveer Bhaurao P. Patil of Altwad, Dist. Satara (South), in 1919 and registered in 1935.

Objects & Scope:—To spread education, primary, secondary and higher, among rural masses and particularly poverty-stricken backward and Scheduled Class communities, on the basis of self-help and as far as possible free of charge. The centre of its activities is Maharashtra in general and Satara (South and North) and Kolhapur Districts in particular.

SHET CHANDANMAL MUTHA ARYANGLA VAIDYAK MAHAVIDYALAYA, SATARA

A band of Ayurvedic-minded public men of Satara founded "AYURVED PRASARAK MANDALI" in 1913 with the object of bringing about a revival and uplift of 'AYURVED'. They sought to achieve it by:—

- (i) encouraging a comparative study of 'AYURVED' and modern medicine;
- (ii) presenting, wherever scientifically feasible, AYURVEDIC principles in terms of modern sciences;
- (iii) introducing interpretation, research and reorientation; and finally,
- (iv) popularising and propagating Ayurvedic therapeutic methods by getting them adopted in hospitals and disseminating scientifically prepared Ayurvedic remedies.

To accomplish its object the 'MANDALI' conducts the 'ARYANGLA VAIDYAK MAHAVIDYALAYA' a general charitable hospital and maternity home and a monthly magazine "THE AYURMEMANNA" and it is actively associated with the Dr. Bhadkamkar Ayurvedic Research Institute (housed in the College premises) and the AYURVEDEYA-ARKASHALA, Ltd. Satara.

SHRI GURU SANGIT VIDYALAYA, SATARA

The Institution was started in 1928 by Shriji Keshavbua Matange, the hereditary singer and musician of Satara, with the object of teaching boys and girls music on scientific lines.

The Late Shriji Dadasaheb Karandikar, Member, Council of State and a Patron of the Institution sought recognition from the Educational Department.

Regular classes have been held every day and annual examinations every year. Concerts by well-known musicians are also arranged periodically. Since 1948 the Institution has been affiliated to the Gandharv Maha Vidyalaya Mandal, Bombay.

The Vidyalaya has already been recognised by Government and the Education Department has recommended it for Grant-in-Aid. Donation from the guardians of pupils and well-to-do sympathisers are solicited.

SHRI MADADYA SHANKARACHARYA MANDIR AND BHARATI BHAVAN MATH, SATARA

This 'SANSTHA' (Society) was started by certain 'Sanatani' residents of Satara led by Shri S. V. Joshi, first Non-official President, Satara Dist. Local Board, Shri R. V. Mahabeshwarkar and others in 1940 under the Presidency of Shri Vidyashankar Bharati, the Shankaracharya designate of Sankeshwar Karveer Peeth. The objects of the Society are:—(1) To promote Vedic literature and the study of oriental sciences; (2) To impart knowledge of Philosophy and Research; (3) To maintain libraries for the society members, (4) To impart education to Scholars in ADVAIT Vedant Philosophy Nyaya, Vyaktran and Mimamsa, etc., (5) To maintain 'The Adyashankaracharya Mandir' and the society's property.

MODERN EDUCATION SOCIETY'S NEW SARASWATI ENGLISH SCHOOL

The above named School is being conducted since 2-6-1941 by the Modern Education Society. The present strength in two forms is over 120. Bombay Government was pleased to make a free grant of an open site admeasuring 8 acres 26 gunthas and odd. The society holds building material worth about Rs. 10,000 (Rupees ten thousand). It is donated to the tune of 8 to 9 thousand rupees. The Society hopes to satisfy the educational needs of the public around Koregaon as it promises to be a flourishing centre, being a Railway Station midway between Miraj and Poona.

NAGAR VACHANALAYA, SATARA

The Library was registered in 1904 under the name "City General Library" and was soon named as "Victoria Library" in memory of the Queen. Later in 1938 it was named as "NAGAR VACHANALAYA" at the express desire of Members. There are at present 4,000 English and 4,000 Marathi books. The Library subscribes to a large number of periodicals including dailies and weeklies from various States.

Since October 1947, it has been recognised as "District Library" by the Government of Bombay allotting an annual grant of Rs. 4,000 and it has been thrown open to the public under certain terms and conditions. The institution has its own building with a public hall worth about Rs. 30,000.

SHRI SHIVAJI VIDYALAYA, KARAD

Srjs. Y. B. Chavan, P. P. Gokhale and G. E. Sinhaarane, and Shet Rambhaskar Lahoti and B. Mohre, two prominent merchants founded the "SHRI SHIVAJI SOCIETY", Karad and started "Shri Shivaji Vidyalaya", Karad, in 1945 to meet the growing needs of Secondary Education in the Karad area.

Experienced and qualified teachers were forthwith secured. The Education Department granted recognition and also permission to open the Matriculation class in June 1946. On 31st January 1947, Mr. B. G. Kher, the then Chief Minister and Education Minister of Bombay, laid the foundation tablet of the proposed building on the site the Society had purchased.

THE SATARA EDUCATION SOCIETY, SATARA

The Society was founded in 1935 by five enthusiasts to cheapen and facilitate Education in the Satara District. From humble beginnings the Society has steadily developed and is now running two full-fledged High Schools, the Popular English School, Satara, and Shri Laxmi Narayan English School, Khatav and a Model Primary School at Satara.

Academically and professionally qualified staff, good equipment, progressive results and extra curricular activities like scouting, printed magazine and co-operative show are some of the features of the Society's Schools.

The Society has purchased a spacious site worth Rs. 10,000 to construct a building thereon worth Rs. 2,00,000, for the Popular English School, Satara.

THE SHIKSHAN MANDAL, KARAD

The Shikshan Mandal, Karad was founded in 1920 and registered in 1921 for spreading and facilitating useful and progressive education and inculcating a national spirit in the Indian youth. The Mandal's constitution is on democratic lines entrusting day-to-day management to life-members, and at present to all permanent teachers. It maintains (1) The Tilak High School, Karad. (2) Kanya Shala, Karad. (3) The Nutan Marathi Shala.

SATYABHAMABAI KALE STREE SHIKSHANA MANDIR, SATARA

(Kanyashala and Mahilasadan)

The Kanyashala (a high school for girls) was founded in Satara by Dr. Mrs. Kamalabai Deshpande, O.A., Ph.D., in 1922. In 1935 the late Rao Bahadur R. R. Kale gave away his house as a gift to the Hindu Widows' Home Association, Hingne (Poona) now known as Hingne Stree Shikshana Sanstha, and requested the Association to run the school as well as the adult classes named Mahilasadan, founded by his late wife. Both these are now flourishing under the management of the Association and there are about 600 girls in the High School studying for the S. S. C. New buildings to meet the growing need for accommodation in the School and Mahilasadan have recently been added at a cost of Rs. 1,50,000.

Bal Manohar Mandir, a pre-primary School, has been attached to this School since June last. The Mandir is showing good progress in its work. "Mahila Mandal" is a ladies' club, a part of Mahila Sadan mentioned above and is receiving good response from the ladies in the town.

MAHABLESHWAR

Mahableshwar in the Satara North District is called the queen of the hill stations in Bombay State. It is situated on one of the great slopes of the Sahyadri range at an elevation of 4,700 feet above sea-level. During the 8 months from October to May the climate is most agreeable. By day the temperature varies between 80 and 86, while the nights are cool and pleasant. But during the monsoon the rainfall is so heavy, the average being about 250 inches a year, that the place is almost uninhabitable. The whole place is picturesque in the extreme and there are a number of excellent walks and drives which give access to beauty spots, some of which contain interesting monuments. One of the things for which the place is famous is fruit especially raspberries and strawberries.

It is possible to have separate furnished rooms, cottages, and bungalows at a cheap rent in the town. There is an up-to-date post-office, post delivery being twice a day during the hot weather when the station is crowded. The town has also facilities for trunk telephone calls to all places. Other amenities of the town include two libraries, several open spaces and play-grounds, a garden, and Kurocean, Parsi and Hindu gymkhanas with tennis courts, etc. There are Protestant and Roman Catholic churches, a number of Hindu temples and two mosques.

The Government House is well laid out on an extensive ground. The town contains many bungalows but as the official visit of the Governor has been in suspension for the last few years, Government House and other quarters remain vacant. The Governor generally occupies the Guest House on casual private visits.

It is now possible for people of moderate means to go to the hill station for a comparatively inexpensive holiday and change in the newly opened Holiday Camp set up by the Bombay Government. The Camp is located in the Government House property on the way to the Bombay Point and one-room, two-room and three-room accommodation is available to the public at purely nominal rent. The stay of visitors at the Camp is limited to one week so that the facilities offered are taken advantage of by as many people in need of a change as possible.

The Camp is served by a vegetarian canteen, tap water and electric lighting. It is normally thrown open during the months October to May, and applications for accommodation have to be addressed to the Executive Engineer, Poona Division, Poona.

There are several routes to Mahableshwar but the most popular is the one starting from Poona, from where it is only 75 miles. The journey which is both convenient and cheap takes only 4 hours. One can also go by road from Bombay via Panvel, Dharamtar and Mahad. In the old days people used to make the journey by palanquin or phaeton from Wathar Station on the Southern Railway, 68 miles from Poona.

The Deputy Collector who is Prant Officer is the acting Superintendent of the station at present. For the management of the town there is a Municipality which consists of an elected Board of 10 members and 2 ex-officio members, viz. the Superintendent who is the President of the Board, and the Mahalkari who is in charge of the Revenue Department.

PANCHGANI

Panchgani is a well known hill station in Satara North District, 63 miles from Poona. It is 4,300 feet above sea-level and has a cool, salubrious and comparatively dry climate. The average rainfall is about 80 inches a year. Panchgani is thus a well known sanatorium.

The town abounds in beauty spots. It is, however, best known for its table-land, which is a very extensive plateau 4,550 feet above sea-level. The table-land covers 99 acres of ground with a small lake in which people can have a swim.

At the foot of the table-land there is a municipal public garden.

Panchgani is habitable throughout the year, and there are excellent shops for provisions and oilman stores. Poultry, fowl and eggs are all very cheap. The town is electrified and the roads are well lighted. When the water-supply and drainage schemes materialize they will greatly add to the amenities of the town. There are Protestant and Catholic churches as well as Hindu temples, a mosque and a small fire-temple. The town has also post and telegraph offices with facilities for trunk calls.

Panchgani can be reached from Poona from where there is regular bus service.

The town boasts of one of the largest and the most up-to-date tuberculosis sanatoriums in Bombay State—Bel Air Sanatorium conducted by Dr. R. B. Billimoria. The sanatorium is equipped with a solarium laboratory, an operation theatre and X-ray apparatus. It stands on its own spacious grounds well away from the town. There are several sanatorium blocks which can be cheaply rented by people belonging to all communities.

Panchgani is administered by an elected Municipal Board. The income of the Municipality is derived from taxes on property, vehicles, conservancy tax, etc. There is an Executive Officer, and also a Health Officer, who looks after the sanitation of the place.

HOTELS

The hotels are open all the year and cater for all communities.

SCHOOLS

Panchgani is famous for its schools. There are seven high schools in all. They all have their own buildings with laboratories, dormitories, and hospitals. The schools admit day scholars as well as boarders.

St. Joseph's Convent High School for Girls.
Kimmins High School for Girls.
Sanjivan Vidyalaya.
Parsi High School.
Muslim High School.
Young Zoroastrian School for Girls

ST. PETER'S BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL

Panchgani.

The School was founded in 1902 by the Colonial and Continental Church Society, partly through the munificence of Miss Ashlin of Poona. It is situated in its own delightful grounds of over 22 acres overlooking the Kurai Valley. There is accommodation for about 150 boarders as well as the Principal, staff and matrons. The buildings include Assembly and Dining Halls, Library, Laboratory, spacious class and reading rooms. Both school house and residence have lofty and spacious rooms, while special efforts have been made to secure bright and airy dormitories. There is a large School Gymnasium adjoining the main building and a swimming bath supplied with pure well water.

The aim of the school is to provide a sound education on modern lines for the sons of Europeans and Indians. As far as conditions will allow the education is the same as that of the English Secondary School. The religious teaching is supervised by the Church of England and arrangements are made for pupils of other religions to receive instruction in their faiths.

All boys are expected to take part in games and also to attend the physical instruction classes. There is a trained physical instructor on the staff, and classes are taken by him during school hours. Hockey, Association Football and Cricket are played daily by senior boys on the extensive level ground known as Tabeland (a short distance from the school) and by junior boys on the school grounds. Instruction is also given in swimming. The school is divided into four houses for games, and inter-house competitions are held in all sports. The annual Athletic Sports are held in November. Tennis is also available on the school grounds, and educational equipment includes a talkie film projector.

SATARA SOUTH DISTRICT (SANGLI)

Headquarters :—Sangli.

Sub-Divisions :—Miraj, Khanapur.

Talukas and Mahals :—Miraj, Tasgaon, Walva, Khanapur, Jath, Shirala (Mahal).

With the merger of sixteen Deccan States in Bombay State on March 8, 1948, arose the necessity of re-constituting some of the already existing Districts and creating new Districts in the State.

The new District of Sangli later designated Satara South came into existence on August 1, 1949. The District is comprised of some portions of Sangli, Miraj Sr., Miraj Jr., Aundh, and Jath States of the Sangli Group and the three southern Talukas and one Mahal of the former Satara District. It is included in the Deccan Division of Bombay State.

The District is bounded by Bijapur District on the east, Kolhapur and Ratnagiri Districts on the west, Kolhapur and Belgaum Districts on the south, and Sholapur and Satara North Districts on the north.

The area and the land revenue of the District are 3,434 square miles and Rs. 20,21,075 respectively. The population of the District according to the census of 1951 is 1,000,141.

The climate of the District is generally dry, and healthy, with an average rainfall ranging from 15 to 25 inches except for parts in the Shirala Mahal, which being on the borders of Konkan has a comparatively damp climate and a heavy rainfall. The Mahal includes a hilly tract.

The Krishna, the Verala, the Warana, and the Agarani are the four important rivers flowing through the District. The soil on the banks of these rivers is very fertile, yielding rich sugarcane crops. Starting from the river Nandhi in the Khanapur Taluka is a canal called Chikili.

The principal crops grown in the District are jowar, millets, pulses, wheat, ground-nut, turmeric, tobacco, sugarcane and a little cotton and rice and some oil-seeds.

THE MIRAJ SUB-DIVISION consists of Miraj and Jath Talukas.

THE KHANAPUR SUB-DIVISION consists of Khanapur, Tasgaon and Walva Talukas and Shirala Mahal.

MIRAJ TALUKA

The Taluka contains 92 villages and has a population of 285,616, a land revenue of Rs. 4,71,688 and an area of 600 square miles.

The Taluka with its headquarters at Miraj contains such important towns as Sangli, Miraj, Budhgaon, all of which were former State capitals.

TASGAON TALUKA

The Taluka contains 74 villages and has a population of 169,325, a land revenue of Rs. 3,53,324 and an area of 441 square miles.

The Taluka with its headquarters at Tasgaon, a place known for its Ganapati Temple and "Gopur", contains Kirloskarwadi, the iron and steel industry centre, noted all over India. Brahmanal and Audumber on the banks of the Verala and the Krishna rivers are well known holy places.

WALVA TALUKA

Walva Taluka with its headquarters at Islampur contains 56 villages, has a population of 174,073, a land revenue of Rs. 5,29,982 and an area of 304 square miles. The land in this taluka is very fertile.

KHANAPUR TALUKA

The Taluka has its headquarters at Vita. It contains 181 villages and has a population of 183,441, a land revenue of Rs. 3,08,977 and an area of 778 square miles.

JATH TALUKA

The Taluka with its headquarters at Jath contains 97 villages and has a population of 180,270, a land revenue of Rs. 1,99,286 and an area of 867 square miles.

SHIRALA MAHAL

The Mahal with its headquarters at Shirala contains 80 villages, has a population of 79,416, a land revenue of Rs. 1,57,873 and an area of 245 square miles.

COMMUNICATIONS

The Southern Railway's Poona-Bangalore line runs through the District from Takari right upto Miraj, touching on the way Kirloskarwadi, Bhilavadi, Nandre and Madhavnagar. A branch of the Southern Railway running from Beral to Miraj touches at a number of places in the Jath Taluka. Miraj is an important railway junction in the District where lines from Poona, Bangalore, Sangli, Kolhapur and Pandharpur converge. From Miraj to Sangli there is a branch of the Southern Railway covering a distance of 6 miles. From Miraj to Kolhapur there is another branch line covering a distance of 30 miles. Two important trunk metalled roads called Karad-Bijapur Road and Tasgaon-Gotur Road run through the District. The State Transport buses regularly ply between Sangli on the one hand and Bijapur, Poona, Kolhapur and Jath on the other. There are also many other bus-services functioning throughout the District.

TRADE, INDUSTRY

Sangli, which is the headquarters of the District is an important centre of trade and commerce specially for tobacco, groundnuts, turmeric, jaggery, chillies, ghee, and cotton trade. It has ginning, weaving and spinning mills, groundnut, turmeric, iron and steel factories represented chiefly by firms like Deccan Engineering Works at Madhavnagar, Kirloskar Bros at Kirloskarwadi, Dandekar Bros. and Bhilde & Sons at Sangli. The town has also oil mills and ice factory. It is also known for its silver, copper and brassware and gold ornaments. There are two famous cloth mills known as Gajanan Mills (reputed for its sarees) and the Balaji Spinning & Weaving Mills. There is also a metal mill named Maharashtra Metal and General Mill. Bidi making is another big industry.

Besides, Sangli is a big centre of forward-delivery transactions. It has a Chamber of Commerce and a number of trade Associations such as (1) The Mahajan Association, (2) The Forward Delivery Association, (3) The Cloth Merchants' Association, (4) The Saraf Association, (5) The Grocer-traders' Association, (6) Hotel Keepers' Association, (7) Iron & Hardware Merchants' Association.

The Ganapathi-santhan which works under the direct patronage of the Raja of Sangli must be mentioned.

Being a railway junction, Miraj is now commercially developing. It has a weaving mill, an oil mill, an ice factory and industrial works called The Yeshwant Industrial Works. Another town Malignon is famous for its beetle-leaves, which are exported throughout the year to all parts of India.

EDUCATION

The District is sufficiently advanced in point of education—primary, secondary and higher. Compulsory Primary Education has been introduced in Tasgaon, Khanapur and Walva Talukas and Shirala Mahal. It may be shortly extended to the merged areas of the former States. There are 832 primary schools with 2,684 teachers in the District and 22 High Schools, two Sanskrit Pathshalas, four Montessori Schools and two Mahila classes. The number of pupils under compulsory education is 45,905. There are 182 adult education classes and 182 village libraries in the District. In the matter of higher education the District has one Arts & Science College, one Engineering College, four Primary Teachers' Training Colleges, one Medical School, one Nursing School.

Sangli, Madhavnagar and Miraj especially which are in close proximity to one another are now rapidly developing into an important educational and industrial centre in Southern Maharashtra. The Raja of Sangli has established at Sangli the "Adhyatma Vidya Mandir" under the supervision of Prof. B. D. Ranade, an institution solely devoted to the study of Philosophy, Religion and allied pursuits. There are two Primary Teachers' Training Colleges, one for men and the other for women at Sangli. There are also five High Schools in the city. There is a school for the study of ancient learning and another for the study of domestic science. There are also four Montessori schools. Miraj has four High Schools. The Deccan Education Society started about 30 years ago the Willington College at Sangli which provides instruction in Arts and Science and prepares students for degree courses. In 1947 the Maharashtra Technical Education Society, Poona, started at Sangli the New Engineering College.

Because of the Mission Hospital, run by the American Presbyterian Mission and founded by the late Sir William Wanless, Miraj has become one of the most up-to-date and efficient medical centres in India. The Sir William Wanless Tuberculosis Sanatorium, at Wanlesswadi, is now the largest among first grade sanatoria in India. Besides the T. B. Sanatorium there is a Leprosarium at Miraj. The Miraj Medical Centre also runs a Medical School, a Nursing School and a Compounding School.

Besides the A.P. Mission Medical Centre, Miraj has (1) Dr D. P. Gorde's Clinic for eye, ear, nose and throat operations, (2) Dr W. O. Alran's X-Ray Clinic and (3) Dr S. D. Arawattigi's Vail Memorial Hospital for general operations.

Sangli has ample water and electric supply. Sangli has also Trunk Telephone Exchange facilities and a Selection Post Office. Miraj too has a Selection Post Office and two Sub-post offices and is an R.M.S. headquarters. Miraj is now well supplied with electricity and water.

The Sangli State Central Co-operative Bank now known as the Satara South District Central Co-operative Bank Ltd., Sangli, has opened branches at three Talukas namely Miraj, Jath and Tasgaon. It may soon start branches at other Taluka centres. This has very much helped the development of Co-operative movement in the District. The Satara South District Industrial Co-operative Association Ltd. has been recently started at Sangli with a view to developing and encouraging small scale and cottage industries in the District.

RAYAT SHIKSHAN SANSTHA, SATARA.

(Educational Society for Masses.)

This Society founded by Karmveer Bhaurao P. Patil of Altawade, Dist. Satara (South), in 1919 and registered in 1935.

Object and Scope.—To spread education Primary, Secondary and Higher among rural masses and particularly poverty stricken Backward and Scheduled Class communities on the basis of self-help and as far as possible free of charge. The centre of its activities is Maharashtra in general and Satara South and North and Kolhapur districts in particular.

Boarding Houses for Boys and Girls.—Karmveer Patil did much spadework in the educational field in Walwa and Karad Talukas from 1909 to 1923 and made Satara town and centre of his activities in 1924, where he opened a Boarding House with one Harijan student. This was formally styled "Shree Chhatrapati Shahu Boarding House" after the late Shahu Maharaj of Kolhapur and inaugurated by Mahatma Gandhi in 1927. The Boarding House has been run from the beginning on non-sectarian lines and has a common mess, the first of its kind in India. The Boarding House has so far turned out 400 Matriculates of whom 50 are studying in different Colleges. Of the 100 Matriculates produced by the Society 20 have been enrolled as Life Members and have been working in the Society's institutions. At present the Sanstha is conducting 11 Boarding Houses, 10 for boys and one for girls attached to Secondary Schools under the control of the Sanstha. All the hostels are recognised as the B.C. Hostels by the Government and three hostels are recognised as certified Schools. The number of the inmates of the hostels, i.e., 600 and their annual budget for the year 1953-54 is Rs. 1,35,250.

Primary Education.—The Sanstha has been conducting voluntary Primary Schools in all over the most mountainous inaccessible and educationally Backward villages of the Sanstha North and South Districts since 1938. The present number of voluntary schools is 441 with 777 teachers. Nearly 22,000 pupils are taking Primary education in these schools. Their budget for 1953-54 is Rs. 4,27,000.

Training Education.—The Sanstha started one Primary Training College in 1935 at Satara with a definite view to train and send out properly qualified teachers and workers in rural areas. At present the Sanstha is conducting 3 Basic Training Colleges for men at Satara, Ashta and Rukadi and one for women at Satara. 550 teachers are under training and 2,000 teachers are trained upto this day. The budget for 1953-54 is Rs. 1,44,000.

One Basic Practising School is attached to Mahatma Fale Adhyapak Vidyalaya, Satara is conducted in the memory of the late Rao Bahadur R. B. Kale.

Secondary Education.—The Sanstha started one Secondary School at Satara in 1940 with a view to impart free education to those willing to do manual work for 3 hours a day. The Sanstha has built up an integrated system of rural education and has begun to start Secondary Schools in different districts of Maharashtra. The number of pupils in Secondary Schools is 4,000 with 200 teachers. The annual budget for 1953-54 is Rs. 4,59,050.

Higher Education.—Chhatrapati Shivaji College, Satara was started in 1947. It was free from tuition fees and completely residential for 4 years. At present the college is giving instruction upto B.A. classes. The T.D. Section is attached to this college. The number of pupils is 200. Its annual budget for 1953-54 is Rs. 52,800. Special concessions are given to those who live in the college hostel and do some manual work daily.

Other Activities.—(i) The Sanstha has been conducting one Store House and one Credit Society on co-operative basis for the use of the pupils and the employees in the Sanstha. The number of share holders is 959 and the share capital is of Rs. 22,269. The Reserve Fund of the Society is Rs. 8,909-4-9.

(ii) The Sanstha is conducting 70 social education classes and 25 village libraries in different villages.

(iii) The Late Laxmibai Patil Memorial Education Fund is run in the memory of the wife of Karmveer Bhaurao Patil. The annual contributions are offered to the Fund by the past students of the Sanstha. Loan scholarships to the extent of Rs. 10,000 are annually rewarded to the poor and deserving pupils taking Higher and Secondary education.

Budget.—The Sanstha started its educational work with one Harijan boy with annual budget of Rs. 30 only. At present 30,000 pupils are taking education in Primary, Higher and Training branches of the Sanstha and 1,000 teachers are giving instructions. The villagers have given the land of 296 acres worth Rs. 1,16,523 in donation of the Sanstha. The land is cultivated by the pupils and thus problem of self-sufficiency is solved to some extent. The Sanstha has built 18 buildings at different centres worth Rs. 4 lakhs. The Sanstha's annual budget for the year 1953-54 is 15 lakhs of rupees. This stupendous expansion of educational work of the Sanstha is the result of the unceasing and selfless work of Karmveer Bhaurao Patil, the inspiring and organising spirit of the Society, the untiring efforts of the selfless Life Members and workers, generous public patronage and the help given by the Government. The Society's immediate needs are the buildings of its own for its different institutions.

President.—Shri Bapurao Nathajirao Nalavade, B.A., LL.B., Satara.

THE DECCAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION, MADHAVNAGAR (S.M.C.)

The Deccan Manufacturers' Association came into being in the year 1946. It is a body of the Manufacturers in the tract covered formerly by the Deccan States. Now with the merger of these States, the manufacturers in the adjoining area have also joined the Association entitling it to speak on behalf of the Industries in the Deccan. The total capital invested in these industries can be roughly estimated at four crores of rupees and the line of articles produced by them range all the way from Textiles, Yarn, Sugar, Gur, Agricultural Implements and Machinery, Glass, Enamelware, Hurricane Lanterns, Soap, Oil, Cement-articles, and Cinemaslides. Nearly 30,000 labour is employed in the above industries. This Association has been duly recognised by the State and Central Governments.

MIRAJ MEDICAL CENTRE, MIRAJ

The Mission Hospital was founded by Dr. Wanless in 1894 with accommodation for fifty in-patients. There are specialised departments of General Surgery, Orthopaedic surgery, chest-surgery, medicine, infectious diseases, cancer and eye-ear-nose and throat. All the money received in India and from abroad is spent entirely for maintenance of the work, i.e., repairs and upkeep, for the medical care of the sick and for the training of Indian Doctors and Nurses.

Miraj Medical School:—The Miraj Medical School was started in 1897 with 4 medical apprentices who were given practical teaching in the wards.

Nearly a thousand beds and a wealth of clinical material are available for teaching purposes in the Miraj Medical Centre, including the Wanless Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

The Nursing School:—This was started in 1897 also, with two pupil-nurses, who had only the most meagre educational background. In 1930, the School was affiliated with the Bombay Presidency Nursing Association and gives regular training now in all branches of nursing to both men and women.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL, SANGLI

The Girls' High School is conducted by The Women's Education Society, Sangli. The School was inaugurated on the 28th of Sept. 1939. It provides for the instruction of the courses of the S.S.C.

Examination of the Bombay Government and the Entrance Examination of The S.N.D.T. Indian Women's University, Bombay. Special arrangements are made for the teaching of Drawing and Music. The strength of the school is over 450.

NEW ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SANGLI

The New Engineering College is situated at a distance of about 2 miles from Sangli, on an extensive area of about 60 acres with a bracing climate. It was started in the year 1947, by the Maharashtra Technical Education Society, Poona, to foster technical education in the Southern Maratha Country. At present, it is conducting classes for Civil Engineering up to B.E. Degree (Civil).

The College is fully equipped and has all the required laboratories and workshops to carry out instruction satisfactorily. Provision exists to accommodate about 250 students on the College premises. Adequate water supply and electricity are available.

The College is headed by Principal G. R. Vartak and is assisted by experienced and competent staff.

SANGLI EDUCATION SOCIETY, SANGLI

The Sangli Education Society was established in 1919, after the pattern of the Deccan Education Society with a desire to impart liberal education to the children in the mofussil areas to whom such education was not then available. It has now expanded into one of the most prominent educational institutions and has been running six full-fledged High Schools each at Sangli, Tasgaon, Vita, Kirloskarwadi, Miraj and Budhgaon. That is to say, it has spread its net-work in most of the towns in the South-Satara (Sangli) District. The last two High Schools (formerly managed by the States) have been entrusted to the care of the Society by the Bombay Government after the full merger of the Deccan States.

The Society also runs three model Primary Schools at Sangli, Tasgaon and Kirloskarwadi.

The total annual expenditure on all these ventures approximately amounts to Rs. 2,55,000 which is being somehow met by fees, grants and munificent contribution of the Kirloskar Iron Works.

The Society has two big School buildings at Sangli and property worth over 500,000 rupees.

About 4,000 students have been receiving education in all the schools of the Society, which maintains a staff consisting of 175 members.

WILLINGDON COLLEGE, SANGLI (S.M.C.)

The Deccan Education Society, Poona, with its aim and object of facilitating and cheapening education, started the Willingdon College in 1919 with a view to serving the needs of higher education in the Southern Maratha Country.

The situation of the College is ideal. It is a fine rising plot of ground measuring 125 acres lying between Sangli and Miraj, standing on the border-land of Maharashtra and Karnatak. An imposing building and extensive playground with open air and bracing climate "far from the madding crowd" make the College an ideal place for higher education for plain living and high thinking. It reminds one of the University atmosphere of Oxford and Cambridge.

The College is a first-grade and full-fledged College affiliated to the newly started Poona University and provides instruction in all major subjects for under-graduate, graduate and post-graduate classes and courses on the arts as well as the science side. It has more than 800 students (650 boys and 150 girls) on the roll. There is hostel-accommodation on the College premises for about 125 boys and 40 girls. The College has a big Library Hall and Reading-room and a set of well-built and well-equipped laboratories. The staff consists of highly qualified and experienced Professors and Lecturers, many of whom have valuable literary or research work to their credit. With an eventful history of endeavours and achievements extending over more than 25 years, the College has succeeded in setting up very high standards in studies as well as sports—not a few students every year bagging University prizes and scholarships as well as sports-trophies. Among the extra-curricular activities of the College, have to be mentioned the College Parliament, the Debating Union, the Arts Society and the Volunteer Corps.

Principal K. G. Pandit, M.A., M.L.C., during whose regime, the College has been making remarkable progress, has been an experienced and seasoned educationist and administrator—is a Fellow of the University of Bombay and a member of the Court, the Academic Council and the Executive Council of the Poona University.

Dr. T. G. Mainkar, M.A., Ph.D., is the Vice-Principal.

Y.M.M.E. SOCIETY, SANGLI

The Young Men's Model Education Society, Sangli, was founded in 1939. The Society is conducting a full-grade High School.

The Society is governed by a constitution under which a Council and a Board of Life-Members look to the working of the Schools of the Society at Sangli.

WANLESS TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM, WANLESSWADI
(Between Sangli-Miraj)

The Sir William Wanless Tuberculosis Sanatorium was founded in 1929 by the late Sir William Wanless, and the first patient was admitted under the care of Dr. G. Samuel, the present Medical Superintendent of the Sanatorium. In 1931, the Sanatorium was officially opened with the bed strength of 50, and Dr. W. M. G. Jones as the Medical Superintendent. When Dr. Jones left for U.S.A. in 1939, Dr. G. Samuel took over the charge of the Sanatorium.

The Sanatorium is situated in the western Deccan two miles from Miraj, and 160 miles south of Poona on the metre gauge section of the Southern Railway. It has its own railway station WANLESSWADI, at the main gate, where also is a post office with telegraph and trunk telephone facilities.

The climate is pleasant all the year round, the summer temperature not exceeding 104° with cool evening breezes, and the rainfall averages only 18". The various cottages and general wards surrounded by hundreds of shady trees provide accommodation for 372 patients. Up to sixty extra beds can be arranged when required.

A full line of treatment from A.P. to thoracoplasty and pneumonectomy, and facilities for latest surgical operations are available for patients of all castes and creeds; and poor patients can be admitted free or on concession rates on production of a poverty certificate, as beds are available. There are two operation theatres, a surgical block, six X-ray units including planography, and an up to date laboratory provide for all types of diagnostic and therapeutic service. Due to the excellent results obtained many government and private concerns have contracts with this sanatorium for treatment of their workers.

THE MIRAJ LEPROSY HOSPITAL

Opened in 1901 by Dr. Wanless for 36 patients, the hospital now accommodates 150. Treatment is carried out under direct supervision of the Miraj Medical Centre. A pastor living on the premises looks after the general management and welfare of the patients. Use of the new drug, D.D.S., is bringing fresh hope to these unfortunate people. A Home started in 1919 provides care for 14 healthy children of leprosy parents. Dr. A. G. Fletcher is the honorary superintendent.

SHOLAPUR DISTRICT

Headquarters : Sholapur.

Talukas : Sholapur South, Sholapur North, Barsi, Pandharpur, Sangola, Malshiras, Karmala, Akalkot, Mangalwedha, Mohol.

Sholapur District is bounded on the north by Ahmednagar District, on the east by Hyderabad State, on the south by Bijapur District and on the west by Satara North and Poona Districts. Sholapur is generally flat and undulating. Most of the surface rolls in long low uplands separated by hollows, with an occasional level. The shallow soiled uplands are suitable for pasture and the deep-soiled lowlands, under careful tillage, yield rich crops. From time to time the District suffers severely from drought, to which its situation and the treeless surface of the country expose it. The Indian Council of Agricultural Research, therefore, opened at Mulegaon, a village about 4 miles to the east of Sholapur, a Dry Farming Research Station and after about 10 years' research and experiments on jowar, which is the staple food of this District, recommended what is known as the Bombay Dry Farming Method. Subsequently the Government of Bombay took over the research work in the year 1943, and since then it has been busy tackling the problems of soil and moisture conservation and the reclamation of other intractable soils not amenable to ordinary known practices. Bunding, strip-cropping and other methods of soil preservation and moisture conservation recommended by the Station authorities have been found beneficial.

Sholapur town, the headquarters of the District, is a station on the Central Railway. It has a fine old fort and a travellers' bungalow. The languages spoken are mainly Marathi and also Telugu and Kannada.

The population of the District according to 1951 census is 1,505,316. Its agricultural revenue is Rs. 25,63,855 and non-agricultural revenue Rs. 58,757. Area : 5,682 sq. miles.

SURAT DISTRICT

Headquarters: Surat.

Sub-Divisions: Surat, Navsari, Bulsar, Vyara.

Talukas and Mahals: Choras, Olpad, Bardoli, Mandvi, Bulsar, Chikhli, Pardi, Dharampur, Banada, Navsari, Palsana, Kamrej, Mangrol, Mahuva, Vyara, Songadh, Valod and Gandevi.

Surat District lies between North Latitude 20°15' and 21°28' and East Longitude 72°38' and 73°31'. Following the merger of Baroda State into Bombay State the whole district of Navsari, formerly part of Baroda, was incorporated into the Surat District. The former States of Dharampur, Banada and Sachin were also added to the District with the result that the area and population of the District were more than doubled. Surat District is bounded on the north by Broach District, on the east by West Khandesh, Dangs and Nasik Districts, on the south by Thana District and the Portuguese territory of Daman, and on the west by the Arabian Sea. The present area of the District is 4,499 square miles and the population according to 1951 census 1,827,842. The majority of the population in Banada and Dharampur and several Talukas, particularly those having jungle areas of the former Navsari District belongs to backward classes called Raniparaj, Chodhra, Dhodia and Dubla. The language spoken is Gujarati.

Surat District consists of a wide alluvial plain, stretching between the Lang Hills and the coast, from the Kim river on the north to Damanganga on the south—a distance of about 80 miles. Much of the soil is rich, but the western border of the District consists of less fertile lands. With the inclusion of the former Navsari District and the States of Banada, Sachin and Dharampur into the District, it has acquired a very valuable and wide forest area.

Surat, the chief city and administrative headquarters, is situated on the south bank of the river Tapi 10 miles from the sea. Its population according to 1951 census is 223,182. During the 17th and 18th centuries Surat ranked as the chief export and import centre of India. After the assumption of the entire government by the British in 1800, prosperity which had deserted the town towards the end of the previous century reappeared, but the steady transfer of trade to Bombay, combined with the famine in 1813 in northern Gujarat, continued to undermine its commercial importance. Though overshadowed by Bombay, it is once again the centre of brisk trade.

Besides being noteworthy historically, Surat is one of the principal centres for handicrafts in the State. Nearly half the population of the city depends on handicrafts. Jari work, laces, silk and jari brocades, embroidery, ivory and sandalwood, inlay work of varakh-nakashi and ivory bangles are the major handicrafts for which Surat is still famous not only throughout India but even outside India. Hitherto France was the main competitor of the Surat jari work and laces, but the Second World War has put an end to French competition and the town has now a monopoly of the trade. Gold thread produced here is exported to many countries. Cotton and art silk weaving is another major industry which received an impetus during the War. The taluka of Olpad is famous for its knives and nutcrackers, while Bulsar is well known for its silver engraving work.

THANA DISTRICT

Headquarters: Thana.

Talukas and Mahals: Thana, Kalyan, Bhiwandi, Shahapur, Murbad, Wada, Jawhar, Borivil, Bassein, Paigar, Dahanu, Umbergaon, Mokhada.

Thana District lies between North Latitude 18°53' and 20°22', and East Longitude 72°39' and 73°48'. It is bounded on the north by the Portuguese territory of Daman and Surat District; on the east by the Districts of Nasik, Ahmednagar and Poona; on the south by Greater Bombay; and on the west by the Arabian Sea. Forty-seven villages from the former Bombay Suburban District were originally merged with the Thana District. Later, the area from Sion to Bhandup on the Central Railway and the area from Bandra to Jogeshwari on the Western Railway were merged with Greater Bombay. The population according to 1951 census is 1,518,050. The languages spoken are Marathi, Gujarati and Urdu. The Christians of Salsette and Bassein, a very numerous community, are the descendants of the converts of St. Francis Xavier.

Area: 8,995 sq. miles.

Thana consists of a distinct strip of low land, intersected by hilly tracts rising to an elevation of from 100 to 2,500 feet. Along the whole line of the coast the soil is fertile, and the villages are exceedingly populous. In the north-east the hills are covered with wood, and the valleys are but partially cultivated. The villages are seldom more than scattered groups of huts, and the population consists mainly of uncivilised aboriginal tribes, many of whom still wander from place to place as they find water or to suit their fancy. Inland the District is well watered and well wooded. Elsewhere than in the north-east, the country consists of a series of flat low-lying rice tracts, broken by well-marked ranges of hills.

Thana District is fast developing into a prominent industrial area. Hundreds of acres of land are being converted into sites for factories. Scores of factories have already been set up particularly along the railway track and the Bombay-Agra and Bombay-Poona Roads. In Thana Taluka Mulund village on the Thana-Bombay section of the Central Railway has been developed into a modern suburb with all the usual amenities.

Bhiwandi, a Taluka town nine miles from Thana situated on the Bombay-Agra Road is noted for handloom fabrics and the "Bhiwandi" variety of Indian saris is very popular among Deccan women. The town is mostly inhabited by Momins and in some parts of the town every house has a spinning wheel. Bhiwandi Taluka is also famous for its timber and charcoal trade, the latter having its centre in Shahapur a small town in the Taluka.

Kalyan, the biggest and the most thickly populated town in the District, is 34 miles from Bombay and is a junction on the Central Railway's north-east and south-east sections. "Ulhasnagar" the largest refugee township in Bombay State is situated in Thana District two miles from Kalyan near the Ulhas River. The township is designed to accommodate 90,000 people. There are four other refugee camps in Thana District—at Fowal, Virar, Mulund, and Kolahet respectively.

The main produce of the District is rice which is of superior Kolamb variety.

Dahanu, Bassein and Umbergaon, the three Talukas are specially famous for fruit gardens and the bulk of Bombay's fruit supply comes from these areas. Bassein plantains and betel-leaves are very much in demand.

At Thana, Bhyandar and Belapur there are extensive salt works.

The chief articles of export from Thana District are paddy, rice, vegetables, salt, betel-leaves, plantains, bricks, grass, firewood, charcoal, lime, fish fresh or dried, timber, coconuts, mangoes, flowers, saris, handloom fabrics, woollen cloth and milk.

Thana and Vihar lakes and the Valtarna river which are the main sources of Bombay's water supply are situated in Thana District and are connected with Bombay by a special trolley line.

The Thana District Prison is one of the major prisons in the State and there is also a mental hospital on the outskirts of Thana town.

There are travellers' bungalows in every town in the District.

Thana, the chief town, 21 miles north of Bombay, is as already mentioned a station on the Central Railway. The Fort, the Portuguese Cathedral, a few carved and inscribed stones, and several reservoirs are now the only signs that Thana was once an important city. There is a good travellers' bungalow in the town Bassein, on the Western Railway, contains the famous ruins of the ancient Portuguese dominion in Salsette.

WEST KHANDESH DISTRICT

Headquarters :—Dhulla.

Talukas and Mahals :—Shirpur, Shahada, Taloda, Sindkheda, Nandurbar, Nawapur, Dhulla, Sakri, Akrani, Akal-kuva.

West Khandesh District lies roughly between 20° 38' and 22° North Latitude and 73° 35' and 75° 17' East Longitude. It is bounded on the north by the Madhya Bharat Union, on the east by East Khandesh District, on the south by Nasik District and on the west by Baroda District.

The area of West Khandesh is 5,391 sq. miles and the population 1,146,024 (1951 census). In the western parts Bhils who number 400,000 predominate. The languages spoken are Marathi, Gujarati and Bhili.

West Khandesh along with East Khandesh forms the most northerly section of the Deccan table-land. The river Tapi flowing from east to west divides it into two unequal parts. Of these the bigger lies in the south and is drained by the rivers Bural, Panjara, Bori and Girna. This is a long central plain comprising an extensive area of rich alluvial soil. Northwards beyond the plains the land rises towards the Satpura Hills. The country is rugged and thickly wooded and is mainly inhabited by Bhils. On the whole the District is well supplied with surface water.

The main crops of this District are cotton, wheat, bajri, jawar and groundnut. Sugar-cane and chillies form the main irrigated crops. Lately many more sugar-cane crushing factories and gur manufacturing factories have been started in the District. There are two agricultural research stations - one for Cereal research and another for cotton research at Shahada and Dhulla respectively. A special staff of agricultural officers has lately been engaged by the Government in Bhil backward areas, and a model agricultural project has been started where Bhil cultivators are taught improved methods of cultivation.

There are two types of irrigation in this District : (1) Well irrigation and (2) Bandhara irrigation. The rivers used for irrigation are chiefly the Panjara, Kan, Gural and Gomi, which are bounded at a number of places. Each bund irrigates about 100 to 200 acres. The total area under Bandhara is about 4,000 acres. The main crops grown on these Bandharas are sugar-cane, wheat and paddy, in this rotation. This system is known as Fad System.

There are two educational institutions in the Bhil area - Bhil Sudharna Committee and Bhil Seva Mandal. The Government has also recently opened a Sarvodaya centre at Khandbara for the uplift of the Bhil community.

COMMUNICATIONS

The headquarters of the District Dhulla, was also the old capital of the united district of Khandesh. It is situated on the branch of the Central Railway which joins the main line at Chalisgaon. There is a project for a new railway line, Manmad—Malegaon—Dhulla—Nardhana on the Tapi Railway line, which serves the Sindkheda, Nandurbar and Nawapur talukas and runs in the direction of Surat.

HOSPITALS

There are two civil hospitals at Dhulla, viz., Dhulla Civil Hospital, a Government institution and the Suwarta Memorial Hospital, run by the Presbyterian Mission. The Dhulla Civil Hospital also trains nurses and Dais. The Local Red Cross Society is conducting a Child Welfare Centre at Dhulla where milk and free treatment in ultra violet rays is given to women and children. The society is also conducting ante-natal clinic where medical advice is given to expectant mothers. There are 4 Municipal dispensaries—one ayurvedic, one unani and two allopathic. There is also a free dispensary conducted by the Prani-Rakshak Sanstha. Doctors have a West Khandesh Medical Union located in Dhulla.

OFFICIALS

Collector and District Magistrate, L. S. Lulla, I.A.S.
District Agricultural Officer, S. T. Purandare.
District Engineer, V. W. Gothoskar.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

There are four High Schools in Dhulla, including one for girls. There are about 80 primary schools, where free and compulsory primary education is given to both boys and girls and 2 primary teachers' training colleges including one conducted by Government. There is one Agricultural School called the Dhulla Agricultural School, where practical training in agriculture, poultry, dairy and other cottage industries is given in a two-year course. The Government has lately further developed this school. There is also a model Government poultry farm at Dhulla. At the cattle farm started under the Wardha Cattle Scheme the best kind of cattle are bred. The King Edward VII Technical School at Dhulla gives technical education to ex-service men and students. Government has started a graduates' Basic Education College, in the premises of Grand High School. A Remand home is also lately started for the care of delinquent children.

The Bhil Seva Mandal and the Bhil Sudhar Samittee, which are working for the social and educational uplift of the Bhil community in the Bhil area of the District are two more institutions of a cultural and educational nature.

Two more institutions are the Gandhi Tatwadnyan Mandir, teaching Gandhian philosophy, and the Sanskrit Patashala teaching Sanskrit.

Dhulla is the Divisional Headquarters of the Bombay State Transport Corporation, of the Khandesh Division. A direct bus service to Indore, in Madhya Bharat is operating. There is also a big repair workshop.

DHULLA EDUCATION SOCIETY.—The Society owns two high schools: (1) The J. R. City High School and (2) the New City School, the total number of boys being 1,700. The first was started in 1916 in response to a growing demand for secondary education, which the Government High Schools could not satisfy. It began with the first three standards and only 100 boys. The late Rao Bahadur K. N. Bhangankar was its first president. The second was started in 1937 in the heart of the town to accommodate the ever-increasing rush of boys. The Society was first started in 1920 with the late Mr. V. N. Paranjape as President. Internal management is in the hands of a council on which the staff is fully represented.

THE MARATHA VIDYA-PRASARAK SANSTHA, DHULLA.—This is the pioneer Educational Institution started in the year 1908. With its aim to spread education by giving help to deserving students of the agriculturists, intermediates, and backward communities irrespective of caste and creed.

In 1934 the Institution purchased a bungalow which is known as J. J. Agarwal Maratha Boarding named after the philanthropic donor, Sjt. Jivanram Seth of the city. Later in the year 1935, the Institution erected another big magnificent building where there are at present nearly 200 students of all castes from different and distant parts of the district. For management and educational purpose, the Institution spends nearly Rs. 8,000 per year. In 1939 the Institution started a Boarding house for girls. In 1940, the Institution started a High School.

WOMEN'S EDUCATION SOCIETY, DHULLA.—This Society was founded by the late Mr. Sakharampant Johare of Dhulla and the late Mr. M. K. Apte, B.A., LL.B, pleader of Dhulla, who was its first President. The aim of the society, is principally to impart instruction to girls in Secondary education. It conducts a High School for girls and is the only institution catering for such education in West Khandesh. It has constructed three spacious buildings of its own for the location of the High School. The High School is recognised by Government and is affiliated to the University of Bombay.

THE DHONDO SHAMRAO GARUD LIBRARY, DHULLA.—The library was established at Dhulla in 1854 by Mr. D. J. Richardson, District Judge and President of the English School Committee, as an aid to the students of the English School at Dhulla. Afterwards the library was opened to the public and was known as "The Native General Library", Dhulla, till the year 1907, when the present building was built by donation of Rs. 1,500 given by Rao Bahadur S. D. Garud, and is now known as "The S. D. Garud Library". It is the oldest institution catering for the reading public. In 1947 the library became a free district library under the new scheme of Bombay Government and is open to the public. It is managed by a Managing Committee of eighteen members.

HARIJAN SEVAK SANGH (Maharashtra Provincial Board).—This Board as a Branch of the All India Harijan Sevak Sangh has been in existence since 1932. The first President was late G. K. Doodhar, President of the Servants of India Society. The second President was Shri B. G. Kher.

The Provincial Board with the help of its District and Taluka committees is carrying on, besides welfare work in the form of hostels for boys and girls and scholarships for Harijan students, educative propaganda in the 10 Marathi speaking districts of the present sub-province, with a view to giving the fullest possible benefit of the recent Acts passed by the Congress Government, in order to remove the social disabilities of Harijans and to secure temple entry on terms of absolute equality with other Hindus. The Board also endeavours to remove the grievances of Harijans. The condition of Harijans is fast improving in all directions.

THE INDIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY, West Khandesh Branch, Dhulia.—The District Branch of the Bombay State Branch of the Indian Red Cross Society has been doing social work and health activities in Dhulia and West Khandesh District for nearly twenty years.

The Society has been for the last five years conducting a Child Welfare Centre, the first of its kind in the District, at Dhulia where children are given free milk and ultra violet light medical treatment. Ultra violet light is also given to children and women under medical advice. Last year the society also opened an ante-natal clinic. Lady Colville visited the centre and appreciated the work and through her efforts, Rs. 35,000 as grant was given for a permanent building for the Red Cross Society.

DHULIA NAGARIK SANGH.—This institution was established at Dhulia twelve years ago with the object of educating Dhulia public to civic sense by propaganda and by ventilating grievances to proper authorities and educating public in local municipal elections. The society has tackled problems of town planning, health activities, railway grievances, food question and regulating motor and other traffic in Dhulia City. President : Dr. B. B. Kirtane ; Secretary : Oku.

MAHATMA GANDHI TATWADNYAN MANDIR, DHULIA.—Aims : Founded at Dhulia in 1946 to perpetuate the memory of the late Mahadeobhai Desai, who devoted his whole life to the service of Mahatma Gandhi. It is designed to preserve all Gandhian literature and spread Gandhian philosophy by encouraging students to stay and lodge to study, by publishing suitable books and magazines and by organising a batch of workers who would lead and teach the people by their own example by leading a life based on Gandhian principles. This institution had been blessed by Mahatma Gandhi. The site was given free by Shet Shaligram Ramchandra Bharti and Shet Rameshwar Johammai Poddar. Principal : Balubhai Mehta. Trustees : V. L. The Bank serves the needs of the local merchants, petty traders and agriculturists of Dhulia City and is the oldest bank in the city.

RAJWADE MANDAL PEOPLE'S CO-OPERATIVE BANK LTD., DHULIA.—This bank, one of the very few of its kind in the State, was established in February 1933. The shareholders of the bank have agreed to pay one-fourth from their share of dividend due from the bank each year, to a research institution—Rajwade Sanshodhan Mandal—established in the memory of the late Mr. Vishwanath Kashinath Rajwade, an eminent research worker.

Dhulia is the biggest cotton centre in the Khandesh District and has a well regulated Cotton Market. There is also another regulated Cotton Market at Dondaicha in the Sindkheda Taluka on the Tapti Valley Section of the Central Railway.

There is a Spinning and Weaving Mill at Dhulia, called the New Pratap Spinning and Weaving Mill, which operates 1,058 looms and 46,135 ring spindles.

There are many Weaving Factories, driven by steam and electric power, operating a total number of 1,000 looms.

The number of cotton ginning and cotton pressing factories is 47.

Dhulia has also been lately developing into a groundnut oil industry centre. There are 40 oil mills, including 12 at Dhulia, which together produce about 2,000 tons of groundnut cake. One of these mills uses the latest type of oil expeller machinery. There are two saw mills, but on the whole, West Khandesh is less developed than East Khandesh.

LAND TENURE

After the abolition of the proprietary rights of the intermediaries (malguzars, zamindars, jagirdars, isardars, etc.) with effect from March 1951, the land tenure system in the various parts of the State is as follows.

Central Provinces : The ex-proprietors retain the home farm land. Land cultivated after 1948-49 has been settled with them in the rights of an occupancy tenant. The existing rights of the tenants continue and they have been given the privilege of securing malik mukbuz rights in their tenancy land on payment of a premium at concessional rate equal to three times and four times of the annual rent for absolute occupancy tenants and occupancy tenants respectively. The village administration is on the raiyatwari system.

Merged Territories : Here the ex-proprietors have also been allowed to retain other land in their personal cultivation in raiyatwari rights. The tenants and raiyats have been given the concession of having their raiyati or tenancy land converted into malik-mukbuz on payment of a premium equal to twice the amount of annual rent. The village administration is on raiyatwari lines.

Berar : The raiyatwari system is prevalent in almost the whole of the Berar districts. In a small number of villages in the districts which have vested in the State Government, superior holders have been allowed to retain the home farm land in the right of an occupant. These tenants have been regarded as lessees of Government and have been allowed the privilege of securing occupancy rights on payment on the sliding scale as laid down in Section 69 of the M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights Act, 1950 (I of 1951).

Acts Governing the Land Tenure : The C.P. Tenancy Act, 1920 (I of 1920). The Act recognises three types of tenants namely Absolute occupancy tenants, Occupancy tenants and Sub-tenants.

The C.P. States Land Tenure Order, 1949 and the Makrai State Land Tenure Order, 1949 : As a result of the integration of 15 Feudatory States with Madhya Pradesh, the raiyats and tenants were greatly handicapped on account of the prevailing restrictions on inheritance and transfer of land. Under the above orders, heritable and transferable rights were conferred on raiyats and tenants in their holdings. They are also entitled to make improvements in their land and to enjoy the usufructuary rights of the trees standing on their holding.

The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (I of 1951).

Under the above Act, compensation is payable to proprietors on the basis of net income in accordance with the rules in Schedules I and II of the Act. Petty proprietors are to be paid rehabilitation grant also according to the scale prescribed in Schedule III of the Act.

Any mortgage or charge on any proprietary right was a charge on the compensation money payable to the outgoing proprietor. The Claims Officer has been empowered to determine these debts. The rate of interest allowed on these debts will not be more than 6 per cent per annum. The amount of principal and interest found due can further be scaled down as prescribed in sub-sections 2 and 3 of Section 24 of the Act. The amount determined as due shall not carry any interest after the date of determination. The amount of debt will be paid to the creditors out of the compensation money before the balance if any is paid to the outgoing proprietor.

Number of persons expropriated under the law : 150,000.

The Act has been fully implemented and the State has taken possession of all the villages vested in the State under the above law.

The compensation money will be paid from the State Revenues and will not be acquired.

The question as to whom and how this land is to be allotted is under the consideration of the State Government.

THE CHRISTIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION OF INDIA, PAKISTAN, BURMA AND CEYLON

Office Nelson Square, Nagpur

The Christian Medical Association of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon seeks to be the means of mutual help among Christian Doctors in carrying on and securing greater efficiency in their work. This mutual sharing of experience and discussion of common problems is carried on through Biennial General Conferences, annual conferences in the Hill Stations of Kodaikanal, Landour and the Nilgiris, and in Regional Conferences held from time to time in various parts of the countries. It is also promoted through the columns of the Journal of the Christian Medical Association published bimonthly and through the visits and counselling of its two full-time Secretaries. It has assisted in the development of the Christian Medical College at Vellore and through its Nurses Auxiliary has played a large part in the development of Nursing Education.

Its membership is open to Christian Doctors with registrable qualifications regardless of their field of service

MADRAS*

Area . 60,362 square miles , Pop. 35,736,489†
Capital : Madras.

Names of the Districts Madras, Chingleput, North Arcot, Salem, Coimbatore, South Arcot, Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Ramanad, Tinnevely, Nilgiris, Malabar, South Kanara.

Languages spoken . Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam, Kannada, Hindusthani and Tulu.

The vast majority of the people is of the Dravidian race.

INDUSTRIES

Chief industries : Textiles, engineering, sugar, tobacco, matches, oil making, bricks and tile manufacture.

Production of yarn : 470,007 bales. In the matter of cloth, the State's precedence is in the field of quality.

Sugar : The rated capacity of existing factories . 88,000 tons. Additional quantity sanctioned : 60,000 tons.

Automobile : Has two of the five manufacturing plants in the country. Is a pioneer in the production of component parts like pistons, wheels and rims, diesel engines, etc.

Cement : The capacity of the State is a little less than a third of the total capacity of the country.

Number of Cement factories and their output per year . 5 factories producing 7,95,000 tons per year.

Metals : The establishment of an electrometallurgical plant has been made a condition for the lease of manganese at Sandur. Magnesite is produced at Salem. The production of aluminium in Salem is awaiting supply of cheap electricity.

The State possesses the best steel ore in the world at Sandur.†† Plans for its exploitation await the availability of lignite.

Lignite . The pilot project for exploiting the lignite deposit in South Arcot District at an estimated cost of Rs. 70 lakhs, was inaugurated on March 5, 1953. Investigation revealed the existence of about 2,000 million tons of lignite (brown coal) in an area of about 100 square miles in South Arcot District at a depth of about 175 feet below ground level. The sample of lignite taken when processed compared favourably with grade 1 coal received from Bengal. Machinery worth Rs. 15 lakhs, has been lent by the Government for the pilot project. If the cost of extraction is less than about Rs. 30 per ton which is the price now paid for rail-borne coal, an abundant supply of motive power of industrial development at cheap rates, is assured for the State.

IRRIGATION

Number of major projects under the irrigation programme of the State : 18.

All the major projects are under execution.

Estimated cost of these projects : Rs. 45.65 crores.

Total area expected to be benefited on completion of these projects : 7 lakh acres.

Number of schemes sanctioned as a short term measure and their cost : 330 schemes costing about Rs. 4 crores. Most of them have been completed.

Total area which will be irrigated by these schemes : 300,000 acres.

Old tanks, kassams and other irrigation sources, neglected for a long time in the areas taken over from the Zamindaris are also brought to standard under the scheme known as Tank Improvement Scheme.

Area of total cultivated lands : 32.264 million acres of which 10.144 million acres were under irrigation under the main sources, Government canals, tanks, etc.

FOOD POSITION

With the launching of the new food policy of decontrol and de rationing by the Government in June 1952, procurement and statutory rationing were completely abolished. The movement of rice and paddy within the State was restricted by formation of zones.

Informal rationing was, however, introduced in the highly deficit districts of Malabar and the Nilgiris and Hosdurg sub-taluk of South Kanara District. Fair Price Shops were also opened.

As a further step towards relaxation of control the supply of rice through fair price shops has been restricted to ex-statutorily rationed urban areas. The classification of cardholders as rice-eaters, mixed-diet-eaters and millet eaters has been abolished. The cardholders in the ex-statutorily rationed urban areas are permitted to draw wheat and/or millets within the overall ration of 10 ounces per adult per day, if they are willing to forego rice to the extent to which they wish to have the other grains in exchange.

The Fair Price Shops in rural areas other than the informally rationed areas issue only millets and/or wheat upto 10 ounces per adult per day.

With a view to meeting any possible emergencies, the Government promulgated a levy procurement Order to procure about 2½ lakhs tons of rice from certain surplus districts.

A total quantity of 1,78,988 tons of rice, 80,572 tons of wheat and wheat products, and 1,80,173 tons of other grains, which included a quantity of 7,027 tons of Madhya Pradesh jowar, were imported into this State during 1952.

A Superintendent of Police is stationed at each District.

Sanctioned strength of the permanent police force : 38,622 excluding the Malabar Special Police and the Special Armed Police Units.

HOUSING SCHEMES

An urban housing scheme was introduced in the middle of 1947. Accordingly housing committees were formed in about 200 urban and rural centres. By the end of March 1952, as many as 105 new urban housing societies were registered. Further, 20 housing societies which were functioning in the centres selected by housing committees, have been entrusted with the implementation of the urban housing schemes in their respective areas.

Co-operative House Building Society : acquires sites for the establishment of a co-operative housing colony and undertakes the construction of houses as the agent of its members, according to type designs on an approved lay-out plan.

The houses are built by the society and their cost is debited as loan against the member concerned.

2 Co-operative House Construction Society : based on the co-partnership tenancy system. It acquires sites, prepares a lay-out plan, constructs houses according to type designs and rents them out to its members on the hire-purchase system. Under the hire-purchase system, the tenant-member becomes the ultimate owner of the house if he makes an initial deposit equal to one-fifth the cost of the house before occupation and pays off the balance with interest in a period of 20 years.

The Society continues to be the owner of the house for a period of 10 years or till the cost of the house has been paid off, whichever is later.

3 Co-operative Township. This acquires extensive lands and lays them out into house-sites for the establishment of a new colony and advances loans to members for the construction of houses. It also provides and maintains civic amenities for the colony such as roads, parks, playgrounds, water supply, drainage and sewerage, street lighting, schools, hospitals, etc., thereby also functioning more or less like a Municipality.

Number of the various housing societies as on 31st March 1952 : Co-operative housing societies 235 ; House building societies 73 ; House construction societies 13 ; Co-operative townships 2.

Total number of members on their rolls with the paid-up share capital within brackets : 24,800 (Rs. 141 lakhs).

These societies are financed by the Government.

Loans disbursed by the Government to the societies from 1st April 1947 to 31st March 1952 : Rs. 282.25 lakhs.

Budget allotment for 1952-53 : Rs. 80 lakhs.

Government loans outstanding against co-operative housing societies at the end of March 1952 : Rs. 292 lakhs.

Loans outstanding against individual members in ordinary building societies, house building societies and co-operative townships at the end of March 1952 : Rs. 229.69 lakhs.

Lands acquired and handed over to co-operative housing societies by the staff for the acquisition of lands, till the end of March 1952 : 2,120 acres.

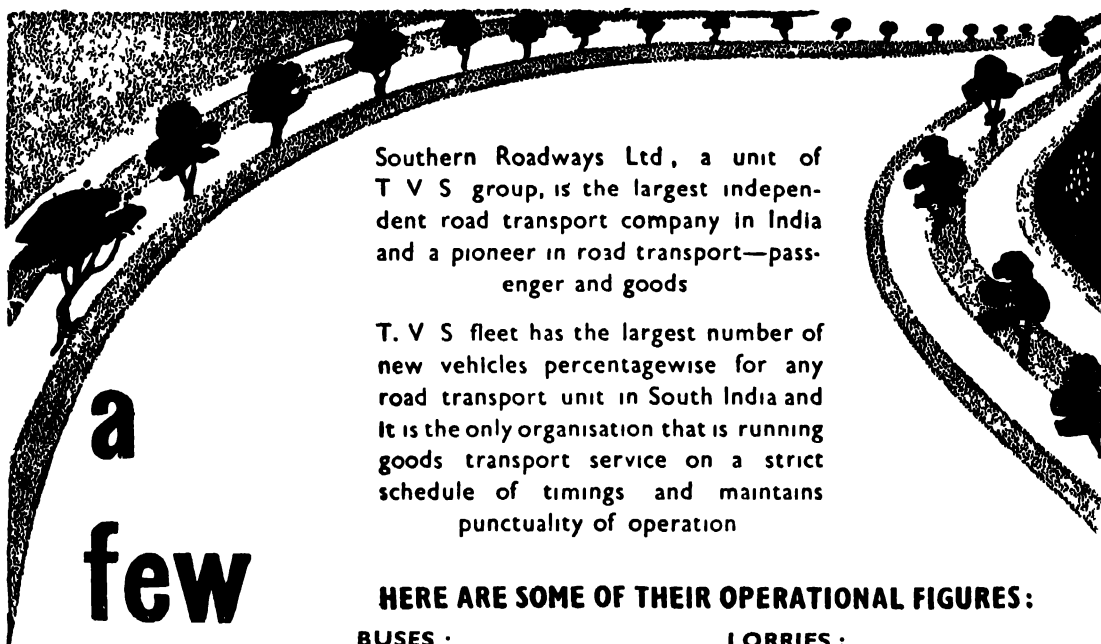

Total number of houses constructed by all types of housing societies with the aid of State loans till the end of 1952 : 5,825.

Number of houses under different stages of construction at the end of March 1952 : 1,940.

Co-operative housing colonies in existence under the urban housing scheme : Adyar, Ayyanavaram in Madras City, Perumalpuram in Palamcottah, Tanjore and Coimbatore.

Colonies nearing completion : Attur, Kovvur, Palani, Salem.

Colonies under construction : In 17 other centres in the State. Major portion expected to be completed during 1953-54.

Government help to Co-operative housing societies: Provides long-term loans repayable in 20 years at comparatively cheap rates of interest. Introduced a rural housing scheme to enable solvent villagers to construct houses with the aid of the long-term Government loans.

Number of rural housing societies registered: 40.

Number of members at the end of March 1952: 775. Paid-up share capital, Rs. 1.13 lakhs.

Number of loans sanctioned upto end of March 1952: 12 loans amounting to Rs. 1.66 lakhs.

Number of houses constructed: 32 in four housing societies.

Budget allotment as loans to rural housing societies for 1952-53: Rs. 10 lakhs.

Help by the Madras Corporation: Has constructed so far nearly 2,000 tenements costing about Rs. 30 lakhs in different parts of the City, for housing its own employees. Has provided plots in well laid out colonies with all amenities for about 2,000 families.

Took up the Shenoy Nagar Housing Scheme in 1946-47: 126 houses already completed out of the 1,000 houses provided for in the scheme. Plinth area of these ranges from 638 square feet having a rent of Rs. 28 per mensem, to 2,381 sq. ft. having a rent of Rs. 160 per mensem.

62 houses of independent detached type for middle class group are nearing completion. Has constructed 40 small houses in Tondiarpet and Royapuram for the lower income group.

The Corporation raised loans from the Government for executing all these schemes.

Slums: There are 241 slums in the City. It was decided to raise a loan of Rs. 30 lakhs from the open market to improve the slums. Raised Rs. 15 lakhs as the first instalment of loan. Improvements effected in 52 slums, slums provided with dustless roads, drainage, lighting and water supply.

125 tenements are under construction for providing alternative accommodation for families shifted as a result of improving the slums. Besides, 25 acres of land is under acquisition. The land is to be divided into convenient plots and allotted to the families in slums.

The Corporation has launched upon a programme for constructing plinths and allotting them to tenants. Plinths are provided with water supply, F.O.S. for each plinth and gully connections to the sewer. Roads are laid and lighted. The tenants put up superstructures according to an approved design. Here the worker becomes the owner of the plot.

The establishment of a Housing Board for Madras City for undertaking housing schemes for the lower income groups, is under the consideration of the Corporation.

Coxcheri General Improvement Schemes: Taken up in 1948. Two blocks providing accommodation for 48 families completed. Other schemes, some of which have been approved by the Government and are in the initial stages of execution, are for clearing slums and for providing house plots to the poor and middle classes. Financed partly by Government and partly from the trust funds.

Housing of Harijans: Government have undertaken to provide every family of Harijans or convert from Harijans with houses-sites if they do not own one. Upto 1949 the Government bore the entire cost of lands acquired for communal and common purposes and half the cost of house-sites subject to the limits of Rs. 150, Rs. 250 and Rs. 350 per acre of dry, garden and wet lands respectively, the remaining cost being recovered from the Harijans in easy annual instalments. Assignments ordered to be free of cost from 1949 if Harijans are unable to pay.

Number of house-sites assigned upto 1949-50 from lands at the disposal of Government: 29,208.

House-sites assigned by acquiring private lands at a cost of Rs. 21,23,716 46 001.

Industrial Housing: A sum of Rs. 9 lakhs has been allotted to Madras by the Government of India as interest free loans for encouraging industrial concerns to build good houses for their workers. The loan will cover two-thirds of the cost, the remaining one-third to be advanced by the employers. The amount has been allotted to four applicants.

Under the Subsidised Industrial Housing Scheme the Government of India propose to give to the companies 25 per cent of the total estimated cost of construction of houses including the cost of land as subsidy and 37½ per cent as loan at 4½ per cent per annum repayable in 15 years.

The companies have expressed their desire to take advantage of the subsidised housing schemes abandoning the old scheme. The question is under the consideration of the Central and State Governments in the light of the new development.

COIMBATORE DISTRICT

Dt. Hqrs.: Coimbatore.

The Coimbatore District, next in importance to the City of Madras, has an area covering 6,937 square miles with a population of 3,293,204. It is one of the major districts in Tamil Nad with the Cauvery River as boundary on the east, Mysore and the Nilgiris on the north, Malabar and Cochin on the west and south. The whole District lies on an undulating plain south of the Nilgiris with the Bhavani River as boundary for some length in the north. It is drained by three important tributaries of the Cauvery River—the Bhavani, Amravati and the Noyyal rivers. The Anamallais (elephant hills) which form part of the District in the south have large coffee and tea plantations. The finest teak in India is produced on these hills.

Coimbatore, the District Headquarters, is the largest industrial city in Madras State with 35 textile mills and over 50 spinning factories and is officially described as the 'Manchester of South India.' It is also the largest textile manufacturing centre in Madras State. There are also a number of iron foundries and a cement factory. Cotton and millets are the chief agricultural produce of the District. The output of cotton will increase with the completion of the Lower Bhavani Project.

It will cost You LESS to retread Your TYRES

■ Ten years ago, Sundaram Industries was established when tyre rationing was introduced to conserve tyres, as a measure of war economy. T.V.S., pioneers in Road Transport and Automobile Engineering, sponsored this new venture . . . another step in the service of the nation.

Sundaram Industries reclaim old tyres, repairing them where necessary. In their well-equipped plant, tyres are retreaded using a simple, long-wearing tread design.

In addition to the 17 towns above, the following towns are served with electric supply: Chatrapur, Gopalpur, Bhubaneswar (Old Town) and Sambalpur.

Chief Hydro-Electric Schemes under execution in the State.

Machkund Hydro-Electric Scheme (Koraput) and Hirakud Hydro-Electric Scheme (Sambalpur).

Machkund Scheme

This is a joint scheme for Orissa and Andhra Governments and is located in Koraput District for harnessing Hydro-Electric Power from the Machkund river. Work on this scheme was started in 1946 and power with the first stage of execution of the scheme was expected to be available by about the middle of 1955 when one set of 17,250 K.W. was expected to come into operation and shortly afterwards two further sets of 17,250 K.W. each. The ultimate capacity of Machkund Power House will be 103,500 K.W.

The cost of the scheme (for Dam and Power Station but excluding Transmission line costs) is Rs. 813-56 lakhs initially, rising to 987 lakhs in ten years, the costs and power generated by the scheme to be shared initially by Andhra and Orissa Governments in the ratio of 70 : 30 ; Orissa having the option to have its full share of 50 per cent power output at the end of 99 years.

This scheme will serve Koraput and Ganjam districts.

The following towns will be served from this : Jeypore, Koraput, Nowrangpur, Borikumma, Kotpad, Rayagada, Gunupur, Parlakimedi, Berhampur, Chatrapur, Rambha, Aska and Gopalpur.

In addition to the various medium size industries now existing like the Sugar Factory at Rayagada, Bharat Vegetable Products at Chatrapur, etc., it is expected to serve a fairly large ferro-manganese plant at Rayagada and also certain chemical industries in Ganjam district in the near future.

Hirakud Scheme

This project was started in 1946 and is located at Hirakud near Sambalpur and a dam will be constructed here to utilise the waters of the Mahanadi River for irrigation, production of power and also to control the floods in the river.

It is the first of three dams proposed to control and harness the mighty river Mahanadi for the development of the entire region.

The first stage of execution of the project is expected to be completed by 1958 when 2 sets of 24,000 K.W. each and 2 sets of 37,500 K.W. each, are expected to come into operation with an installed capacity of 123 M.W. and 85.3 M.W. of Firm Power.

The Power House at the dam when completed could generate about 73 M.W. of power at 100 per cent load factor even in a bad year.

In addition, the water passing through the turbines in the power house at the dam will be used in a power house lower down where an additional 50,000 K.W. of power is expected to be generated. The water will then be discharged into the river and will be picked up by a weir at Naraj to be utilised for irrigation in the Delta.

The power from the Hirakud Scheme will be utilised in the following districts, northern portion of the State, namely : Sambalpur, Sundargarh, Keonjhar, Mayurbhanj, Dhenkanal, Cuttack, Puri, Bolangir and Kalahandi.

In addition to a large number of medium-sized industries like textile mills, collieries, paper mills, rolling mills, etc. the scheme is expected to serve 3 major industries, viz. aluminium, ferro-manganese and steel.

It will also be utilised for giving power not only to the various towns but also to rural areas for which purpose a large system of 33 and 11 K.V. lines are being constructed ; and power will be utilised not only for domestic lighting but for small industries and for pumping of water for irrigation.

Choudwar Thermal Station

The installed capacity in the Steam Station at Choudwar is being increased to 5,000 by installing one 2,000 K.w. set. For utilising the power from this station lines are being constructed to Puri, Dhenkanal, Kendrapara and Jagatsingpur and it is expected that a large number of villages as well as small towns will be supplied from this station. The present capacity of this Station at present including the 2,000 K.w. set now under erection, is 5,000 K.w. and it is possible that a further set of 2,000 K.w. capacity will be installed here.

Power projects planned but not executed : A further 2,000 K.w. set at Choudwar ; The Lower Power House at Hirakud with an installed capacity of approximately 50,000 K.w.

IRRIGATION

Total area irrigated : 1,925,780 acres.

LAND TENURE

Land Tenure System in the State :

With the passing of the Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act, 1952, there are now no occupancy tenants except on evacuee lands. They have become proprietors from 15th June, 1952 on payment of compensation to landlords.

Consequent upon the enforcement of the Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act, 1953, which came into force on the 15th April, 1953, tenants have been divided into the following two classes. Tenants of landowners owning land above the permissible area, and tenants of landowners owning land below the permissible area.

The permissible area has been fixed at 30 standard acres or 60 ordinary acres in case of locals; and in case of displaced persons 50 standard acres or 100 ordinary acres for those who have been allotted 50 standard acres or more in lieu of land left in West Punjab, but to the extent of land allotted in case it is less than 50 standard acres and more than 30 standard acres, but if allotted less than 30 standard acres then up to 30 standard acres including any land which such displaced person has in East Punjab.

The tenants of the former category have security of tenure for a period of 10 years from the date of the commencement of the tenancy or the date of the enforcement of the aforesaid Act whichever is later. The tenants of latter category are liable to ejectment after the 30th April, 1954, up to which date no tenant is liable to ejectment.

Names of laws governing each of these Land Tenure Systems. The Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act, 1952; The Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act, 1953.

Names of Tenancy Acts in force at present. The Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act, 1952, The Punjab Abolition of Ala Malikyat and Talukdari Rights Act, 1952; The Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act, 1953, The Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887.

Names of laws passed for expropriating non-proprietary rentier class (Zamindari, Jagirdari Abolition). Jagirdari or Zamindari in the Punjab existed in the form of Ala Malikis and landlords of occupancy tenants which have since been extinguished by the Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act, 1952 and the Punjab Abolition of Ala Malikyat and Talukdari Rights Act, 1952.

Area of land which will be released in consequence. No area will be released as the Adna Malikis and occupancy tenants instead have been given proprietary rights of such lands.

CIVIL SUPPLIES

Names of rationed articles, quantum of each per adult per week in ounces.

The only commodity statutorily rationed is Rice. It is issued at the rate of 42.7 ounces per adult per week to rice eaters/others (Wheat/atta ceased to be rationed article with effect from the 27th April 1953).

Monthly requirement of State according to the quota :

2,000 tons of rice a month or 28,000 tons per annum (including a carry over of 4,000 tons for two months)

Degree of control in the State :

Procurement of rice is done under the Monopoly Procurement Scheme by which all arrivals of paddy markets are taken over by Government or their authorised agents. After dehussing, these stocks are delivered to Government for distribution through controlled channels and for exports to other States.

In urban areas, it is a statutorily rationed commodity and is distributed at the usual scales.

In rural areas, its distribution is regulated under the East Punjab Distribution of Rice Order, 1948.

There is complete control over the price and movement of rice within the State. Its export outside the State is regulated through permits, which are issued against quotas fixed under the Basic Plan by the Government of India.

Quantity of wheat, rice and millets procured during the year :

Wheat (1953-54 rabi crop year) upto 26th September 1953 : 23,716 tons (out of this, 3,918 tons were purchased under Monopoly Procurement Scheme and the balance quantity procured under Share System) plus 5,609 tons seeds.

Rice (1952-53 Kharif crop year) : 90,473

Millets were not purchased during 1952-53

System of Procurement. At present rice is procured under Rice Monopoly Procurement Scheme. Wheat is purchased under the East Punjab Foodgrains Procurement (Share System) Order, 1948, under which a certain percentage of daily arrivals at selected mandis is taken over by the Government at Market rates. All Foodgrains (except rice which is under monopoly) can be purchased by Government under this system but at present the purchases are confined to wheat only.

Population of rationed towns : 1,273,880

Name of rationed towns : Simla, Ambala, Jagadhari, Karnal, Panipat, Ludhiana, Jullundur, Ferozepur, Amritsar, Batala, Gurdaspur and Pathankot.

Food subsidy. Foodgrains are not supplied at subsidized rates. The issue rates however, are worked out on "no profit no loss basis".

Controlled articles. Rice : Salt where the District Magistrate exercises control over its price. Sugar where releases from factories are controlled by the Government of India so as to ensure regularity of supplies to the market and prevent shortages. 25 per cent of the production of sugar factories is treated as a reserve stock from which the Government of India has the right to release sugar at the controlled price of Rs. 27 per maund.

Annual requirement of salt : 24 lakh maunds.

Import quotas for 1953 : 1,860,000 maunds for human and cattle consumption and 300,000 maunds for industries.

Monthly requirements of cotton yarn as assessed during March 1951 : 6,500 bales.

Quota of sugar : In the pre-control period, the State used to be allotted a quota of 6,000 tons per month which was subsequently increased to 6,250 tons per month.

Self-sufficiency regarding the following articles:

Wheat : During 1953-54 the State expected to be just self-sufficient.

Millets : The internal production is normally sufficient to meet the needs of the State and therefore these are not imported from outside, except for seed purposes in years of lean internal productions.

Kerosene : As there is no internal production in the State, it is imported entirely from outside.

Salt has to be imported from outside besides the production in the plains stations.

Cotton Cloth : As production within the State is very small, most of the cotton cloth required is imported from outside.

Social Education was adopted in this State under a directive of the Government of India in 1949. A Social Education Officer was appointed in 1949 and an assistant in 1950 to run the scheme. Four Social Education Training Camps for teachers and volunteers were organised and 134 social centres including 28 for women were started under the Education Department. A Social Education Sub-Committee of the Provincial Advisory Board of Education drew up a detailed programme for pamphlets, literature, charts and films required for the purpose. The scheme comprised, besides the 3 R's, Health and Hygiene, Geography, Agriculture, Everyday Science and Civics, and for women, needle-work, laundry, cooking and handwork.

The total number of centres at the end of 1950 was 163 (141 for men and 22 for women). This number is very inadequate. The target is 500 centres for the whole State (250 for men and 250 for women). A large number of teachers in secondary schools, the authorities of the Jails and the East Punjab Railway voluntarily carried on Social Education work in their areas.

A Social Education Officer assisted by Social Education Supervisors, one for each division, has been in charge of the Social Education work.

Social education centres have been provided with radio sets, petromax lamps, durrles, black-board, chowkies, reading and writing material and library books.

Centres for women are being developed into work centres. Handicrafts like making of Azarbands and Newar weaving, Phulkari and needle work and spinning are taught in these centres. In centres for men, crafts like mat-making, bamboo craft, rope making and bee-keeping are being taught according to local traditions and the material available.

Literacy tests given at varying intervals of 3 to 6 months according as the centres have pupils ready for the test are as follows : Vidya Mandal (Literacy and library activity) ; Charcha Mandal (for discussion of news and views) ; Sankirtan Mandal (Kathas, recreational activities with the help of Radios) ; Sewa Mandal (for training people in medical relief and first-aid) ; Khel Mandal (for sports and games).

Budget for 1950-51 for Social Education : Rs. 1,75,000. Voluntary organisations engaged in Social Education work are also subsidized by the State Government under this scheme.

LAND TENURE

With the vesting of zamindaris, following new legislation, on July 1, 1952 in 47 out of the State's 51 districts, estates of nearly 20 lakh zamindars were taken over resulting in direct contact with 12,800,000 Kisans. The area of land released is about 6 crore acres.

Liquidated zamindars retain such of Sir, Khudkast and groves of which they have become Bhumidhars.

The new land tenures under the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act are : Bhumidhar, Sirdar, Adhivasi, Asami.

The following laws govern the different tenures extant in the State :

1. The U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act governs the new tenures ;
2. The U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 governs small pockets where the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 does not yet apply such as the urban areas ;
3. The U.P. Land Revenue Act of 1901 as amended from time to time ;
4. The U.P. Bhoodan Yagna Act, 1952 ;
5. The U.P. Land Reforms (Supplementary) Act, 1952 ;
6. The U.P. Commutation of Rent (Regulation of Proceedings) Act, 1952 ;
7. The U.P. Land Tenures (Regulation of Transfer) Act, 1952 ;
8. The Jaunpur Bawar Security of Tenure and Land Records Act, 1952 ;
9. The U.P. Zamindars' Debt Reduction Act, 1950 ;
10. The U.P. Agricultural Tenants' (Acquisition of Privileges) Act, 1949.

The main features of the Zamindari Abolition, etc. Act are : Extinction of ex-intermediaries rights, Payment of equitable compensation, Payment of rehabilitation grant to ex-intermediaries who paid land revenue upto Rs. 10,000 per annum ; Undisturbed possession of land by actual tillers of soil and conferment of greater rights upon them ; Undisturbed possession by every person of his house, well or grove ; No landlord-tenant system to be in force in future i.e. prohibition of sub-letting except in restricted cases ; Prevention of uneconomic holdings ; Village community to own all common lands and to have powers of land management ; The entire body of tenure-holders to be jointly and severally responsible for the payment of land revenue, and facilities for co-operative farming.

Every ex-intermediary (ex-zamindar) is entitled to compensation at the rate of eight times his net assets. In addition, every ex-intermediary, whose land revenue did not exceed Rs. 10,000 would be given rehabilitation grant at the specified scale.

MANUFACTURES

The State is not rich in minerals. Iron and copper ore are found in the Himalayan districts.

Coalfields exist in the district of Mirzapur in Tehsil Sangrauli. Gold is found in minute quantities by washing the sands in some of the rivers in the hills. Limestone is found in the Himalayas and in the districts of Etawah and Banda, and stone is largely quarried in the Mirzapur district. Other kinds of stone quarried, though in small quantities, are kankar and slates.

Kanpur is the chief centre for cotton spinning and weaving mills. According to the latest figures available about 3,000 persons are employed in cotton spinning, cleaning and pressing factories and 72,000 in spinning and weaving mills.

Agra, the principal centre of shoemaking, is rightly called the Northampton of India and produces shoes worth over a crore of rupees a year. Kanpur is next to it in importance.

The glass industry is important at Bahjoi, Balawali, Sasni, Harangau, Shikohabad, Naini (Allahabad), Ghaziabad and Banaras. Firozabad is the chief centre for manufacturing glass bangles in India.

There are over forty hollow-ware factories, and eighty glass bangle factories in the State. Out of the forty-one hollow-ware factories ten are large-scale factories and the others are comparatively small. The total amount of the goods produced in these hollow-ware factories is estimated at 25,000 tons per year valued at 4-5 crores of Rupees per year. The bangle factories at Firozabad produce about 10,000 tons of bangles per year, valued at Rs. 6 crores per year.

There are four factories manufacturing vegetable ghee with a capacity of about 150 tons per day. The oil crushing industry is well developed in the State since U. P. produces about 24 crore maunds of oil-seeds. There are over 150 big oil mills registered under Factories Acts and over 250 small oil mills working with power. About half a dozen oil mills are equipped with refining plant.

There are about 25 big soap factories besides a large number of small manufacturers producing in all about 3 lakh maunds of toilet and washing soap annually.

Paints and varnishes industry is being developed with the coming into existence of 6 paints and varnishes factories producing 3,500 tons of paints and 150,000 gallons of enamel and varnish annually.

Boiled oil is already being manufactured by some firms producing about 450,000 gallons annually.

Allied industries like textile auxiliaries and toilets are being manufactured at some places.

Tin canisters are made at Agra, Hathras, Etawah, Mainpuri and Ghaziabad.

(For sugar industry see article Sugar Industry.)

Of Nadia District 47.75 per cent of the population and 52.34 per cent of the area, of Malda 68.50 per cent of the population and 60.41 per cent of the area, of Jalpaiguri 77.62 per cent of the population and 81.67 per cent of the area, and of Dinajpur 80.28 per cent of the population and 85.14 per cent of the area are in West Bengal (percentage based on 1941 census).

Cooch-Bihar was merged with West Bengal in January 1950.

POPULATIONS OF DISTRICTS

Burdwan 2,191,667; Birbhum 1,066,889; Bankura 1,319,259; Midnapur 3,359,022; Howrah 1,611,373; Hooghly 1,554,320; 24-Parganas 4,609,309; Calcutta 2,548,677; Nadia 1,144,924; Murshidabad 1,715,759; West Dinajpur 720,573; Malda 937,580; Jalpaiguri 914,538; Darjeeling 445,260; Cooch Behar 671,158.

The figures are for 1952-53.

Area in acres: 19,641,100; area under forest: 1,711,700; not available for cultivation: 3,218,700; uncultivated besides current fallows: 1,839,000; current fallows: 1,132,800; net area sown: 11,730,000; area sown more than once: 1,504,200; total cropped area: 13,234,200.

Area and production of principal crops are as follows:

	Area (000 acres)	Production (000 tons)
Winter rice	8,801.6	3,484.7
Autumn rice	1,356.8	447.1
Summer rice	48.5	18.3
Total rice	10,206.9	3,950.1
Wheat	106.4	35.3
Pulses (including gram)	1,548.4	390.7
Oilseeds (including til)	323.8	59.3
Potato	100.4	421.1
Sugarcane	52.3	1,038.3
Jute	836.3	2,412.6
Tobacco	40.2	12.8

The figures for jute are in bales.

The amount of sugarcane in maunds was 217,014.75 and of molasses 97,955.65.

Under the Grow-More-Food campaign the number of small irrigation schemes rose to 920 benefiting an area of 272,770 acres and the additional quantity of foodgrains produced was 27,641 tons. The area of wasteland reclaimed was 6,404, and the additional foodgrains 4,482 tons.

The quantity of ammonium sulphate distributed was 8,168, and extra production 35,376 tons; of super-phosphates 741 tons, extra production, 1,786 tons; of bone meal 3,045 tons, extra production 3,591 tons; of green manure 52 tons, extra production, 277 tons; of town compost 19,156 tons, extra production 1,419 tons; of village compost 102,827 tons, extra production 3,808; of improved paddy seeds 1,134 tons, extra production 6,048 tons.

There are 524 demonstration centres for the Japanese method. It is estimated that the adoption of this method has given an extra production of 100 per cent over the State average of 16.1 maunds to the acre. On this basis there will be an extra one million tons of paddy through this process.

The total acreage under the Japanese method is 61,839.

Total bovine live-stock: 11,024,304; of this male cattle: 5,354,599; female cattle: 5,050,544; male buffaloes: 429,039; female buffaloes: 190,122.

A zamindari abolition bill has been passed into law.

Four fundamental principles of the Bill are: All land shall belong to Government; there will be no intervening rent-receiving interlofers, and lands will be held by the tillers of the soil; the State will eliminate and acquire all zamindari and intermediate rent-receiving interests in lands and similar interest in mines; certain types and quantities of land will be allowed to be retained under tenancy directly under Government on payment of rent. Homesteads will be allowed to be retained free of rent.

An intermediary will be allowed to retain among other things agricultural land in khas possession upto 25 acres, non-agricultural land in khas possession upto a limit of 15 acres but not exceeding 20 acres including homestead land.

Payment of compensation will be made as follows:

For the first Rs. 500 or less, 20 times of such net income; for the next 500 or less 18 times, for the next 1,000 or less, 17 times; for the next 2,000 or less 12 times; for the next 1,000 or less, 10 times; for the next 15,000 or less, 6 times; for the next 80,000 or less, 3 times; for the balance, 2 times.

Payment will be made partly in cash and partly in non-negotiable annuity bonds at 3 per cent per annum and payable in 20 equal annual instalments.

FOOD

The net availability of cereals in West Bengal is 3,402,000 tons, the requirement is 3,965,000 tons. The annual deficit is about 563,000 tons.

The State plans to get an extra 545,000 tons of rice by 1955-56. If the people agree to take 300,000 tons of wheat the food deficit may be wiped out by the end of the Five-Year Plan. As long as rationing continues in Calcutta, the State will get 360,000 tons of rice from the Centre.

Statutory food rationing was first introduced in West Bengal on Jan. 31, 1944 with a basic scale of 4 srs. per adult per week. The total cereal scale in 1954 was 2 srs. 10 chs., the rice ration was 1 sr. 5 chs.

The rate for all qualities of rice was about Rs. 21-4-0 from January to November 1953.

From Jan. 1, 1953 all intra-district and inter-district cordons were abolished. Rice mills were allowed to sell only one-third of their produce to Government instead of the whole, and only farmers owning 10 acres or more were brought under a levy system requiring them to surrender their surplus to Government.

Flour was decontrolled in Oct. 1952. The Asansol and Kharagpur areas were derationed in Dec. 1952.

Quantitative restrictions on the sale of wheat was withdrawn from Oct. 5, and wheat was completely decontrolled from Jan. 18, 1954.

The levy stem was abolished on Oct. 14, 1953.

To give the people of the Calcutta industrial area additional benefit in the shape of supply of good rice free market shops were introduced in 1953 through which different varieties of rice within the quota were sold.

IRRIGATION

Out of the 59 projects provided in the Five-Year Plan 55 have been completed.

The total cost of the schemes completed was over Rs. 7 crores and the area benefited over 473,000 acres.

The biggest of the schemes is the Mayurakshi. It will irrigate 600,000 acres in the kharif season and 120,000 acres during the rabi season in the Districts of Birbhum, Murshidabad and Burdwan; and 30,000 acres in the kharif season and 2,500 acres in the rabi season in the District of Santhal Parganas in Bihar. At the beginning of 1954 it irrigated 100,000 acres.

About 2,000 kW of firm electric power will be generated and an additional 2,000 kW during the irrigation period.

The canal system will have 847.31 miles of canals of various sizes.

The Tilpara Barrage was started in 1948 and completed in June 1951. The cost of the barrage was Rs. 1.11 crores. Other barrages completed are over the rivers Bakreswar, Kopai, Dwarka. Upto Aug. 1953, 440 miles of canals had been excavated. The Chandrabhaga Aqueduct, the biggest and most difficult crops drainage structure in the Mayurakshi project was completed during the monsoon of 1953.

DAMODAR VALLEY CORPORATION

The Damodar Valley Corporation Act was passed in March 1948, and the Corporation itself came into existence on July 7.

The whole project is divided into two phases. The first phase comprises four dams, Tilaiya, Konar, Malihon and Panchet Hill with hydro-electric stations attached to each, a thermal power station at Bokaro with an ultimate capacity of 200,000 kW, a transmission and distribution system which includes 510 route miles of transmission, an irrigation barrage at Durgapur with a net-work of canals totalling 1,562 miles and provision of navigation facilities.

The rest of the four dams Balpahari, Bokaro, Aiyar and Bermo with hydro-electric stations form the second phase.

The total cost of the first phase would be around Rs. 88 crores. The share of the three participating Governments is as follows: Govt. of India Rs. 22 crores; Government of Bihar Rs. 15 crores; Government of West Bengal Rs. 51 crores.

The total capital expenditure incurred upto the end of 1951-52 was Rs. 28.07 crores; the revised estimated expenditure for 1952-53 was Rs. 17.83 crores, the D.V.C.'s budget estimates for 1953-54 was Rs. 16.84.

Of the projects in the first phase the Tilaiya Dam and the Bokaro Thermal Station were opened on Feb. 21, 1953. Konar and Malihon and the Durgapur Barrage are expected to be finished in 1954 and Panchet Hill in 1955.

The benefits from the first phase are estimated to be of this nature: extra food worth Rs. 30.48 crores, extra jute Rs. 3.60 crores, sale of power Rs. 1.18 crores.

Tilaiya Dam was begun in January 1950 and completed in Sept. 1952. Of the two 2,000 kW generators the first was opened on Feb. 21, 1953. The total area irrigated will be 98,000 acres a year. The hydro-electric output 22,770,000 kW hours per annum.

The Bokaro thermal station is the biggest electrical plant in India. It is designed with an ultimate installed capacity of 200,000 kW.

Konar Dam will provide rabi irrigation for 68,000 acres and kharif for 36,000 acres. The hydro-electric plant has 40,000 kW capacity. The dam was started in the middle of 1952 and will be completed in 1954.

The Malihon Dam is designed primarily for flood control. The attached generating station has an installed capacity of 60,000 kW. The area irrigated will be 270,000 acres.

Panchet Hill the fourth of the dams is also designed primarily for flood control. The attached electric plant has a 40,000 kW capacity. The area irrigated will be 683,850 acres.

FORESTS

The forests with a total area of 2,680 sq. miles lie chiefly in the Districts of Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, Cooch-Bihar, and in the Sundarbans. The forests in the north represent about 90 per cent of the income from forests. Transport is the chief problem as the consuming areas are in the south-west: there is no direct link between Silliguri and Calcutta. The Sundarbans forest produce chiefly fire-wood.

The principal products are timber, fire-wood and charcoal.

The average annual production is about 26.13 lakh cubic feet of round timber; 24.14 lakh cubic feet of poles; 0.79 lakh cubic feet of sawn timber and 226.77 lakh cubic feet of fuel.

Other forest produce are about 8.5 lakh bamboos, 22,300 loads of cane, 13 lakh cubic feet of stones, 5,820 maunds of honey, 1,807 maunds of wax and 2 lakh bales of thatching grass.

INDUSTRY

Agriculture is the principal industry of West Bengal. Industry proper is comprised largely of jute, tea (confined to Jalpaiguri, Dooars, Darjeeling), coal mining and sugar.

There are about 200 textile mills* with about 350,000 workers, about 100 jute mills with over 300,000 workers, about 650 engineering works with 95,000 workers, about 1,400 other factories with 235,000 workers.

Then there are the cottage industries.

Government help takes the form of assistance to private industries, training and research, and the creation of wider market for finished goods.

In the matter of assistance to private industries, Government acquires land, obtains controlled material, aids export and import and grants long-term industrial loans.

Vocation training is given in Government and aided institutions. Of the latter there are 75. Under the Government of India's scheme for training civilian adults 2,380 boys are trained every year.

The Industries Directorate has taken up four schemes for developing cottage industries. They include utilization of oil products, development of pottery, bee-keeping and match industry.

At Jalpaiguri there is demonstration in sericulture. In Calcutta there is a silk conditioning house. Training in sericulture is given at the Government Institute at Berhampur, where upto March 1953, 12,000 persons have received training in various trades and professions.
